ARRIVING AT THE SCENE...

- ✓ Establish control of the situation.
- ✓ Separate the parties and identify all occupants on the premises.
- ✓ Assess the language needs of the parties and the need for an interpreter.
 - Do not allow one of the parties to interpret for the other or use children to interpret.
 - Obtain an interpreter, if needed.
- ✓ Do not reveal the identity of a 9-1-1 caller.

CONDUCTING AN INVESTIGATION...

- ✓ Seize all weapons.
- ✓ Interview parties separately, without children present, and document their statements.
- ✓ Interview any children at the scene separately and without adults present, and document their statements.
- ✓ Look for signs of strangulation, and seek immediate medical attention if they are present. Some signs are:
 - Difficulty breathing.
 - Short, choppy sentences.
 - Raspy voice.
 - Redness or slight bruising.
 - Tiny red spots around the eyes, neck, or behind the ears.
 - Neck pain; sore throat.
 - Difficulty swallowing.
 - Light-headed; head rush; fainting.
 - Nausea or vomiting; coughing up blood.
 - Scratches, abrasions, scrapes, or ligature marks around the neck.
- ✓ Ensure the appropriate medical attention is provided.
- ✓ Collect all evidence, such as torn or bloodstained clothing, or damage to property or furniture.
- ✓ Take photographs of the scene, any injuries or damages, and the victim's face, for identification purposes.
- ✓ Interview other witnesses, such as neighbors and co-workers, and obtain written statements when possible.
- ✓ Identify the existence of protection orders.
- ✓ Determine the primary physical aggressor.
 - Check for a history of domestic violence or any violent acts.
 - Observe signs of self-defense.
 - Assess each person's fear of physical harm.
 - Compare the severity of the injuries suffered by each party.
 - Consider any other relevant circumstances.

MAKING AN ARREST...

- ✓ Complete the police report.
 - Document all evidence collected and other pertinent observations.
 - Document the existence and severity of injuries or any other indication of physical harm.
 - Document if the perpetrator had a weapon at the time of the offense.
 - Document the history of the use of weapons or access to weapons.
 - State if you believe the perpetrator poses a credible threat of serious physical harm to the victim or any other family or household member.
 - Document any history of violence, or violation of a protection order.
 - Document any history of substance abuse, mental health issues, or threat of homicide or suicide.
 - Document any history of stalking, surveillance, or other obsessive behavior.
 - Document if the 9-1-1 call was collected as evidence.
 - Document if violence took place in the sight or within hearing range of children.
- ✓ If no arrest is made due to lack of probable cause, the report must state the reasons for not arresting anyone.
