WELCOME!

I hope you all enjoy the 2019 edition of The Antiques Tourist for Sheffield, South and West Yorkshire, Derbyshire and The Peak District.

Our launch last year of The Antiques Tourist at the Abbeydale Picture House was a fabulous opportunity to make new friends, and forge long-lasting relationships with dealers in Sheffield and beyond. And a guided tour of the Abbeydale Picture House was a highlight.

We have had great fun touring the region, making new contacts and friends, and discovering buying opportunities. We have visited Elsecar Heritage Centre, attended one of Charles Hanson's valuation days, bought at Heeley Bank, drunk coffee prepared by a "barista" at Chesterfield Antiques Centre, and visited Serendipity Antiques in Huddersfield.

For buyers there are some extraordinary opportunities to pick up stock at great prices throughout the region covered by The Antiques Tourist. My dealer instinct tells me not to reveal too much – just go seek it yourselves! But your efforts will be rewarded, and my saying is "leave no stone unturned!"

Anyway, good luck and good hunting, but don't forget to take in the atmosphere, "buzz" and scenery as you tour Sheffield, South and West Yorkshire, Derbyshire and The Peak District.

Please tell us about your travels, discoveries and adventures. Suitable stories will be uploaded to our website: www.theantiquetourist.com. Just email me.

Best wishes,
Anthony Bucke

A TRAIL OF DISCOVERY THROUGH THE SHEFFIELD TOUR

Peace Gardens, Sheffield City Centre.

Let's explore Sheffield!

Like many cities in 21st century England, Sheffield is a sometimes confusing, and even confused metropolis. The evidence of the industrial past is everywhere, yet the affluent and bustling activities of modern, cosmopolitan life are also evident. This is a vibrant city in which to live, with a strong student community. Sadly, signs of poverty and homelessness are evident too.

Our trip starts at Kelham Island, the oldest part of industrial Sheffield. With atmospheric streets, the Kelham Island Museum and a plethora of great local pubs serving local craft beers, it is an area worthy of exploring and recently crowned the UK's best neighbourhood. Many of the old cutlery works are now home to trendy student apartments and bars.

Enroute to town pass the incredible building of the National Emergency Services Museum. Well worth checking out opening hours to see this one-of-a-kind collection. If you get a chance pop down to Victoria Quays - part of the 8 mile Weirs and Tinsley Canal walk and a tranquil rest from the bustle of the main city.

Sheffield Victoria Keys, part of Five Weirs Walk.

The city centre hosts a wonderful Town Hall building with impressive Peace Gardens as well as the newly developed Winter Gardens - a vast temperate glasshouse that neighbours the city's Millennium galleries.

A wonderful panoramic 'city scape' can be viewed from the amphitheatre above the main train station.

To the south of the city along London Road is Abbeydale Road - and the area known as The Sheffield Antiques Quarter. Check the various business entries here in The Antiques Tourist before you commit to a particular route, as opening times vary. The Sheffield Antiques Quarter is an interesting social/commercial enterprise which has attempted to bring similar trading businesses together; in an otherwise neglected part of the city. Bargain hunters will be well aware of the opportunities to be had in such areas. Try Swiftys and T.H. Goode, both architectural/salvage dealers on Abbeydale Road. And Dronfield Antiques a lovely traditional antiques shop, spread across 10 rooms also on Abbeydale Road.

A visit to Abbeydale Road is not complete without seeing the 1920's Abbeydale Picture House. Now in private ownership, but still hosting film shows and events to include the monthly Pedlars Corner Flea Market on the first Sunday of each month.

Heeley Bank's Morris Minor outside the Abbeydale Picture House.

View of the Madina Mosque from Heeley Bank Antiques Centre.

Just round the corner is Broadfield Road where you can find 3 centres to include the Sheffield Antiques Centre. Here they are obviously 'in tune' with current trends. Within a stones throw is the Heeley Bank Antiques Centre, a lovely, buzzing antiques centre overlooked by the Madina Mosque, with its Persian-style arches and beautiful blue-green tipped minarets and dome.

Through Nether Edge you come to Sharrowvale and Ecclesall Road - a delightful area filled with bustling independent shops and very close to The Botanical Gardens. In Sharrowvale don't miss The Yard, in nostalgic Steel Road. This is a great destination for quality antiques and interiors, set in a traditional cobbled street.

Kenwood Hall Hotel is a few minutes away and host to monthly antiques valuation days, held by TV antiques expert Charles Hanson and his team.

Sheffield is a fascinating city and worthy of a few days' visit, if you can spare the time. It is also a great base for touring the beautiful scenery and walks of the Peak District area and the wealth of shops featured in the 2019 edition of The Antiques Tourist guide. But - please check trading hours before setting off!

Please send us your comments, reminiscences, recommendations and reviews for inclusion in the 2020 edition of The Antiques Tourist - email: hello@theantiquetourist.com

Industrial heritage is very evident in this part of South Yorkshire. The villages consist of former workers cottages - workers in the mining, stone quarrying and other heavy industry that was so prevalent here until the mid to late 20th century. These rows of cottages have their own charm and are a sight worth seeing. Most villages and towns have a grand house - the former home of the mill or mine owner and now either an elegant private home, a hotel, or museum.

Elsecar is the epitome of this. A fine example of an early industrial village with stone miners and foundry workers cottages. Extensive estate workshops have been converted to retail units, workshops, tearooms and a large hall area for regular events. There is also the steam railway, and adjacent a canal wharf.

BAKEWELL, CHESTERFIELD AND BUXTON

Restored Coal Truck, Bolsover

Bakewell Town Centre.

Caudwells Mill,
Bakewell Rd.

Hardwick Hall,
Chesterfield.

To the east of the M1, Bolsover Castle sits high on the hillside, rather like a French fortified hill-top town. Bolsover Antiques Centre, adjacent to the castle is a great stop-off.

Across the M1 is Chesterfield, buzzing with antiques, vintage and retro, with a regular 'flea market' every Thursday.

Continue further west and this is arguably the real tourism area of The Peak District, with charming towns and numerous small villages and settlements nestling in the Derbyshire Dales.
