

Military Deployment Keepsakes

Before

After

Comforting keepsake for family of deployed military personnel!

To Protect, Serve, and Cuddle!

Transform any first responder or military uniform into a soft cuddle companion. Bears are not only perfect bereavement gifts of those lost in the line of duty, but great consolation for a spouse or child who could use an extra hug while their loved one is protecting and serving their country or community. Each bear comes with embroidered name of your choice, department patch on back, collar or ribbon, and department badge directly from the uniform. Additional insignia can be appliquéd to the bear upon request.

Make it Huggable!

Transform your loved one's garment into something that you can hold. Losing someone you care about is a very painful experience. Although there's no right or wrong way to cope with the loss of a loved one, having something tangible to hold satisfies the desire to have continuity with that person. Memories often fade away, but having something physical to hold keeps your person and those memories close.

As featured on WXYZ's Mom's a Genius!

Bears can be made from virtually any garment: dresses, t-shirts, sweatshirts, sweaters oxford/polo shirts, blankets, bath robes, blouses, uniforms, night gowns, etc. They can be personalized with embroidery or heat transfer vinyl.

Memory bears are truly a great way to hold and cherish your dearly departed forever. After losing my grandpa in October 2014, I decided to create a cuddle companion from his favorite t-shirt. It truly has been comforting to squeeze him tight when I am having a tough day. Hugging teddy bears evokes a sense of peace, security and comfort. They provide emotional and physical healing. These are ideal comfort pieces for both adults and children, but they are not suitable for play. They are to be handled with care, as they embody the true essence of your loved one.
