

SAMPLE Group Study Promotion Table Display Board

On your sign-up and promotion table which you would use for your group studies during your promotion and sign-up month just before the studies begin, you'll want to provide some helpful information to people about the studies. Have some study leaders staff the table each week to answer questions and help people get signed up, and to provide basic signup info. Make the table look attractive and inviting, and cause it to display all the relevant info people will need. In this sample, a geographical map layout of all group study locations and study topics is provided to help people visualize what studies will be offered and where.
