

September

Three weeks in and excitement is in the air

Labor Day has passed and well, we're getting there

Fall is upon us and the temperature will begin to drop

But kids yearning for recess will never ever stop

And the teachers are yearning for something different altogether

Just a calm and peaceful day with perfect Texas weather

Teachers, remember who you are and what you're called to be

A light in a dark world, maybe the only one your kids will get to see

Happy September!

Love,
Mrs. Bowers
