The art of dreaming Followed by Dreams and symbols

A practical guide to become an active dreamer - Fourth edition revised and augmented

From Nicole Gratton

The book :

Almost twenty years passed since the first edition of this book about dreams and that became a classic. Since there are constant discoveries about the physiology of sleep and other things related to dreams, an update of L'art de rêver had to be done. In this new revised and augmented edition, you will find new elements that validate the importance of dreams in our lives. Not only did the author include many dreams to facilitate the understanding of the theory, but she also included at the end of each chapter her own personal experiences that she encountered and written in her dream journal in the last 33 years. As a bonus, the Rêves et symboles book, not available for the past two years, is included as a second part to this book, so the reader can better understand the language of dreams, which makes it the book by excellence on this subject. A dream journal completes this book also.

In this book you will find 5 categories of dreams, 15 dream fonctions, 5 analysis techniques, affirmations to help improve memory and the contents of the dream, typical and frequent dreams, universel symbols and their general term, and everything that can help you decode your dreams and to use them as a growing tool.

Les Chakras traditionnels et multidimensionnels

Du corps physique au Corps de lumière

Traditional and multidimensional chakras

From the physical body to the Light body

From Carole Bérubé

The book :

The word chakra means wheel in sanskrit. The seven principal or traditional – that we also name energy centers – are situated at precise places along our body, our spine (from the coccyx to the top of the skull). Their role is to receive and transmit an energy frequency that will have a determining action on our organs. The first part of this book is devoted to the traditional chakras that we can't neglect since they are essential to stabilize our physical envelope and our etherical body.

The second part of this book talks about the seven multidimensionnal chakras. These chakras are situated in our subtil bodies. They permit us to awaken our Light body and to reactivate the essence of our being. By becoming progressively aware of the chakras subtil but real existence, the being can consciously elevate its vibration level and accede to higher levels of evolution.

Simple but complete, this book by Carole Bérubé is the perfect guide for every reader who wants to initiate themselves to chakras or to simply complete their knowledge about them.

Author :

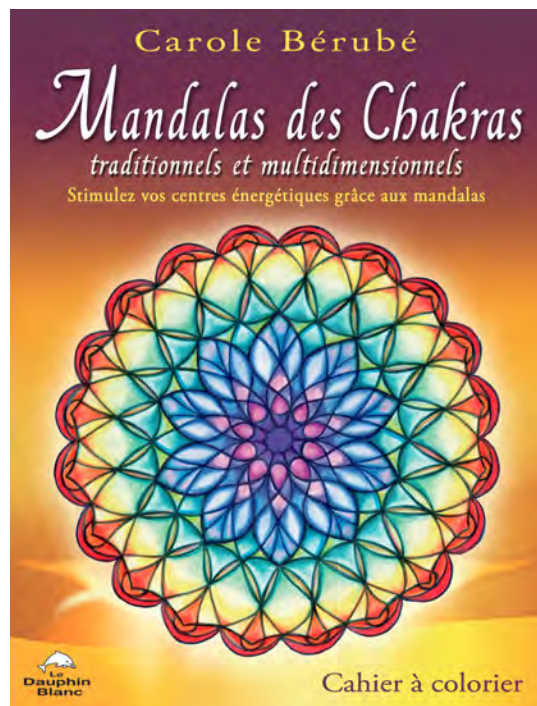

Since she was a child, Carole Bérubé lived through episodes of communication with energies from another sphere, notably by dreaming. Her medium capacities have constantly evolved until she could become a channeling canal for Light Beings and to be able to communicate with her own spiritual guide. Carole also helps people discover their own spiritual potential through workshops, conferences and consultations. She is the author of La Puissance de l'Amour, Votre Guide Spirituel and the coloring book Mandalas des chakras traditionnels ou multidimensionnels.

Mandalas des chakras

Traditionnels et multidimensionnels

Stimulez vos centres énergétiques grâce aux mandalas

Cahier à colorier

Traditionnal and multidimensional Chakras mandalas
Stimulate your energetic centers with mandalas coloring book

From Carole Bérubé

This coloring book is the perfect compliment to Les Chakras traditionnels et multidimensionnels book. Carole Bérubé offers us 14 mandalas to color which represents the 7 traditionnal and 7 multidimensional chakras.

For every energy center, the author gives us a brief description and proposes a mantra. By working with colors, by the communication that establishes itself on superior plans and by concentrating on a precise aspect, the coloring stimulates and amplifies the activation of the chakras, which favors their harmonization and elevation of the consciousness.

Whether it is for the exploration of the subject of the mandalas, for the proposed energy work or simply for the pleasure to colour, the Mandalas des chakras traditionnels et multidimensionnels is well indicated.

Progress towards illumination

Exploration of the evolution of the human conscience through regression

From Pierre Dubuc

This book represents the accomplishment of 35 years of experiences, reflexions and researches in regression therapy. The therapist guides the client in a profound relaxed state, where it is possible for the person to remember past lives memories. In this progress, Pierre Dubuc managed more than 15 000 regressions with his clientele. Over the years, he felt the need to understand the evolution of the human consciousness since its coming on earth. At the invitation of the author, twelve of his colleagues accept the challenge to investigate this theme by the intervention of the regression in the previous lives.

In the first regression - in the Source – everyone will find themselves as a little spark living in the light and in love. Everyone accepts to leave this Source, at the Source's demand, but also by feeling the need to leave to learn how to become an adult soul and by enriching this same Source. This departure is sometimes felt like a big trauma. Each living for example the abandonment, the sadness, the anger, the treason, the depreciation, the fear of dying, etc. In the following regressions, the colleagues uncover the secret of their evolution through nine different stages spreading out on multiple embodiments. They can now cure big wounds of the heart buried in them for a very long time, which allows them to reach a higher level of consciousness. They find themselves then in the 5th dimension, a world of consciousness of non-duality, energy of love and enjoyment, in state of ecstasy, in the light, where, it seems, we are all called to evolve.

Author :

Pierre Dubuc obtains his master's degree in social services in 1963 at the University of Ottawa. Practicing regression therapy for over 35 years, he managed over 15 000 regressions. Founded in 1997 by Pierre Dubuc (M.S.S., Ph.D.), the C.I.P.D. is a specialised center for therapy regression and in forming therapists in this domain. He gave numerous presentations about this subject to diverse public, and also to radio and television shows. After having founded the Centre International Pierre Dubuc Inc in 1997, he obtained two years later his Ph.D. in therapeutic consultation from the University of Sri Lanka. The only french regression school recognized in America, the C.I.P.D. has a list of numerous therapists in regression who reside in diverse regions of Quebec and the world.

Et si je t'avais dit « Je t'aime »...

L'histoire d'un amour éternel

What if I would have said I love you

A story of eternal love

From Johanne Jolin

Here is the captivating and touching new love story that abruptly ended at the beginning of it. Based on a true story, Sophia, a woman in her thirties and already in a relationship, meets Jacob a man out of the ordinary. Sophia will be tormented by the difficult choice of leaving the one she already is with or to answer the call of this enchanting love that haunts her day and night. But life had other plans for her. Sophia will soon discover that true love survives after death and it continues into the gardens of eternity.

Johanne Jolin delivers with a lot of sensitivity and compassion the difficulties, questions and answers that her heroine went through in that very intense experience. This love story plunges us into the heart of incomprehension when someone who loves announces a sudden and unforeseen departure, but equally invites us at the same time to consider love in a larger vision. The author integrates the profoundness of death and love from the point of view of the soul. That is what makes her message so unique and particularly very touching.

« This book is a hymn to the power of human resilience to life itself and to its sacred sense » Sylvie Ouellet, author

TITLE : Après la mort, qu'est-ce qui m'attend? Où irai-je ? Qui verrai-je ? Que ferai-je?

Title suggestion in English : After death, what awaits me?
Where will I go? Who will I see? What will I do?

FROM : Sylvie Ouellet

The book :

At the moment of our death, what will we experience? What awaits us on the other side? Death has fascinated us since the beginning of time. Much more than a simple natural curiosity, it's a calling from our soul to find answers, not only because they help us abandon ourselves with confidence to the process of death, but they help us better live our lives daily and to accompany our loved ones who face death. Strong of her vast experience and her personal researches, in particular in the scientific domain, the author shares with us a vision of death based on a deep sense; a vision filled with love and with condolence for all those who long to discover all the greatness of this passage, in appearances sometimes so horrifying.

Page after page, we discover the steps towards the passage of death. We learn how this process can be prepared and how it unfolds. What happens at the exact time of death when we reach the beyond. The road to take, beings who join us and what we accomplish there, all that and much more is revealed in this book. The correctness of the comment, the depth of the reflection and the relevance of the chosen examples, not only demystify the numerous faiths surrounding death, but make of this book an inescapable work for whoever is affected or interested in death.

What awaits us after death depends on what we have accumulated in our luggages, from our state of mind to what we have learned in our lives. That is why it is so important to understand this passage before death arrives.

But our dreams can reserve us surprises. Sometimes, we are propelled in a new direction, towards another state of consciousness. It is what we name the lucid dream, a altered consciousness state where the dream and our awakened psyche mix. It is the creative and interactive environment which brings us off the beaten track, in an environment convenient to discoveries, a fertile ground for self-fulfillment and for knowledge on the mysteries of life.

Being possessed by ghosts is a complex phenomenon that was tarnished by time. That we name it possession, interference or obsession, this subject is often referred to by stories that make us shudder. But what is it really? Does possession really exist? Can we really lose control over our body and mind to a ghostly possession, a disincarnated spirit or wandering soul? What is it about haunted houses? The few information available, preconceived ideas or myths surrounding this phenomenon are often the cause of fears, skepticism or anguish felt when encountering such a situation.

After her best-seller, Une autre âme dans ma fille, was published, Anick Lapratte was inundated with questions and testimonies from thousands of people about this phenomenon. Astounded to see at what point there were numerous people who wanted to understand this phenomenon, talked about it and wanted help, Anick Lapratte started an intense research on possessions. After months of reading and meetings, she offers us, with the help of an energy therapist, the fruits of her labor.

Se libérer des âmes errantes, demystifies the subject and sheds new light on our own responsibilities in possession phenomenon's, proposing techniques, tricks and advices to get rid of it. Far from demonic possessions, this book sheds light on wandering souls in our lives, conditions put in place by man that can lead to possession or the power that resides in each of us to be possessed. Type: New Age / Spirit communication

Price: 24, 95$ 20€

Format: 6 X 9

ISBN: 978-2-89436-217-4

The book:

To be born, what an adventure! The passage of birth is more demanding than the passage to death. In fact, birth is equally a death. To be born on Earth, we have to accept to die in the subtle energy worlds where we come from. We have to choose the knowledge's that we want to bring and leave the rest behind. We have to leave for the time being our loved ones behind. Therefore, death and birth represents both sides of the medal. To be born on Earth, is to die in Heaven and to be born in Heaven, is to die on Earth. The soul who engages in incarnation will live through mourning, detachment, fear and doubts. So the love and light that we can offer them, will support and nourish their courage and force to accomplish its incarnation. Even if we question a lot about life and death, we know far less about the descent from soul to matter.

In this remarkable book, Sylvie Ouellet sheds a new light on the soul's arrival on Earth. With a lot of clarity and explanations, she unveils what a soul goes through in the different stages of its incarnation. These stages include preparation to a new life, integration of a physical body, birth or development of energetic bodies in the years of childhood. In light of these precious information's, it's much easier for parents, family and even friends to understand, greet and accompany the soul who enters their lives to help it realize its incarnation.

All the while offering a marvelous trip in the incarnating soul's universe, Sylvie Ouellet helps us find our own memories of our own incarnation. By knowing the different stages our soul takes on its trip to Earth, we can renew with our divine essence and put a balm on our soul's injuries. We can also understand its needs and finally offer it compassion and our listening abilities that it so much needs.
