VOLUME 50 NOVEMBER 2013

The Dare to Differ exhibition has finished and now I have to find a new home for my Cityscape quilt. It will probably find a spot at the Murray Bridge Studio Gallery for a while.

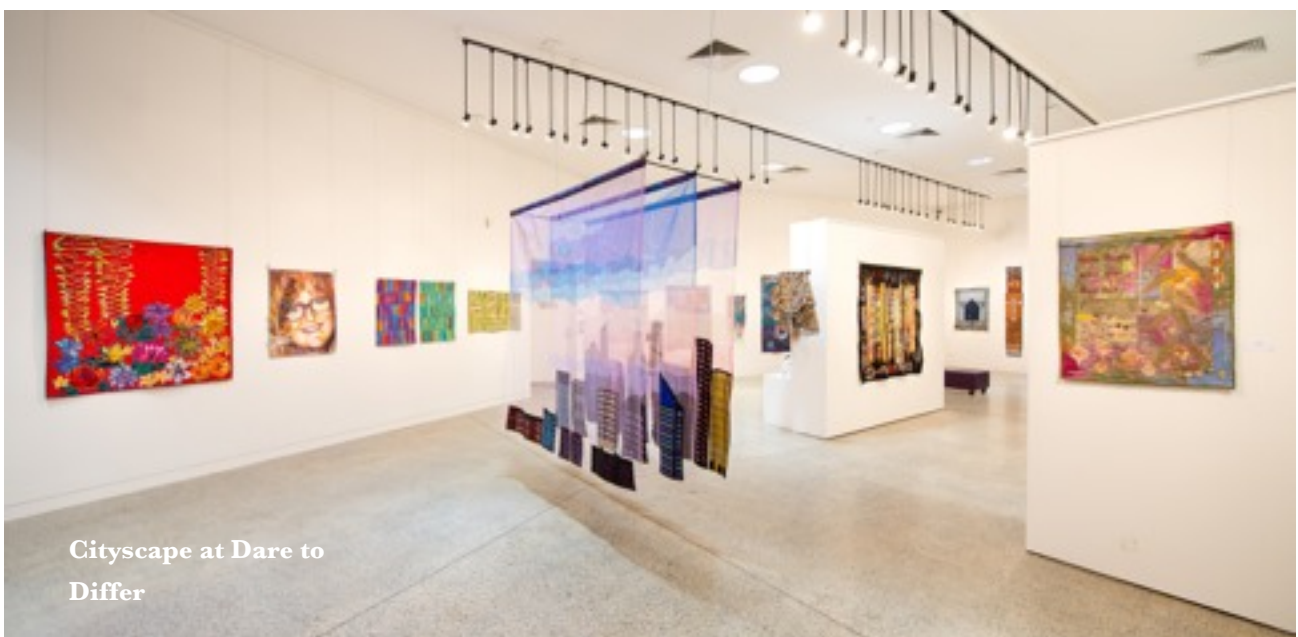

I finished all my works for the Home Away from Home exhibition at the Murray Bridge Gallery. It's on Oct 25 - Dec 1 & opens officially on Sunday 27th Oct at 2:30pm, not Friday as printed in the last newsletter. You can see my felted crochet rug lamp on page two. see my face book page, Samantha Pope Creations, for more pictures.

The Studio Gallery held a mixed media workshop on Oct 12th. 15 people participated, messing around with paint, pastel, conte & charcoal on cartridge paper. As part of the fun I used some lace for mono printing which I then drew on with pastels and pictured below is my work so far.

I am reading a book called Unstuff your life by Andrew J Mellen, so far I have reorganized half my sewing room and so I now know exactly where half of everything is and I am looking forward to discovering where the other half is....exactly.

The Girls Night In at Murray Bridge Gallery was fun with visitors dressing up, eating pink food and drinking pink champagne and at my table, making organza cup flower brooches.

Looking forward to the Artist Market on Nov 30th in Sixth st murray Bridge. Réne Strohmayer will have her Sunshine Van, traveling art Caravan there with cool art to by along with many other artists and displays.
