

Once upon a time in a new 21st century the technology era started:

- 1999 News Years Eve Babysitters in London earnt £150 per hour and the world as daily on the news feared organisation computers due to clock mechanisms would stop work.
- 2000 January 1st and clocks, computers and our business working day was not affected by the forecast named "millennium bug"
- 2001 I wanted to move and office to Beckenham but could not sell my shop because of 24-hour open supermarkets so I had no choice but bizarrely become a property developer.
- 2003 I had to manage the conversion and builders of my shop into 3 flats whilst I ran Little Masters and Misses amidst dust and daily hours of drilling over 6 months.
2019 I returned and the LMM logo is still shop visible.
- 2005 We launched our first website and my fax; typewriter and 3 desks phones were replaced by a computer.
- I transferred my business to our current Beckenham High Street office and home to Kent and we launched our first website. After over 10 years much valued employ Sarah my assistant left the agency office.
- 2007 I donated £2 from each Nanny placed to the NSPCC
Jacqui Lait MP checked with a government department our British Red Cross £60 Saturday course certificate would be Ofsted accepted
- 2008 Lorraine and Kate joined my office admin team
- 2009 My 50th birthday
- 2010 I celebrated 25-years of Little Masters and Misses Party at Beckenham Civic Hall with my office staff, Nannies, Babysitters, Clients, family and friends.
