

Accredited Qualifications Using

Sage is dedicated to providing qualifications that really make a difference in employment. Since 2008 Sage Qualifications have worked in partnership with Awarding Bodies to build an accredited qualification programme that aligns skills and knowledge of Sage 50 products with qualifications that are recognised by employers.

“From feedback received from accounting students who successfully completed the course, it is clear that the accredited Sage 50 course had a major impact on improving their CV and gaining either work experience or a role in accounting. It provides practical IT skills that were of immediate use to their new employer which gave them unique advantage in the job market.”

What people say:

"I have found using the Sage software and Sage computer skills manual great. The materials have given me great knowledge and confidence. The step by step process is detailed thoroughly, I would recommend the course without a doubt, it has been very beneficial and given me more confidence."

"The course content is very good. It is easy for students to work through the programme in a systematic way."

Jacklyn,
Student

"The course featured very well designed questions which were engaging and original. I haven't come across a test in this format before and it really made me think."

Jayne,
Accounts Tutor

"The web based learning was very easy to use and navigate. It was great to be able to go back and review questions.

Having worked in an exams office for a local college, I've seen lots of online exams designed by various awarding bodies but yours really stood out!"

The Sage Qualifications

Sage have collaborated with a number of Accounting and Bookkeeping Awarding Bodies, and several Universities to develop a series of nationally recognised and regulated qualifications in Computerised Accounting and Payroll.

This project supports learners and businesses by giving practical skills and demonstrating how, when used proficiently, computerised software adds real value to a business, and increases business confidence in critical decision making formed on the basis of accurate data.

The courses let the learner practice sending the mandatory returns required by HMRC when running a business and explains the importance of timely data submission as well as simplifying the processes.

Our unique qualifications and online self-study learning materials include essential finance, suitable for all learners to give essential finance skills in money and accounting management and industry specific qualifications such as CIS taxation.

The qualifications and courses mean that for the first time, a person's skill at using Sage Accounting and Payroll software can be officially benchmarked, with an accredited certification which proves competency.

The qualifications begin at Level 1, then progress through the Further Education levels 2 and 3, and extend into Higher Education at Level 4 and 5.

We work within Colleges, Schools, Universities and Prisons

Most of the current partnership qualifications are on the RQF and attract SFA funding.
