

Women's Health Issues: Clinical Aromatherapy & Aromatic Medicine

3-day Advanced Certificate Seminar (18 CPDs)

With Deby Atterby,

Clinical Aromatherapist & Aromatic Medicine Practitioner

Learn about hormonal changes in a woman at various stages of life and treatment strategies, product formulation, vitamins and herbs to assist in the complementary care of women's health.

In this practical course, Deby will discuss women's issues from all areas of this delivery; including those that may seem unconventional. Protocols shared are based on Deby's own experiences over the last 30 years in her clinical practice. We know that every client does not respond in the same way to the same treatment. Deby will be sharing several protocols that have given great results and satisfaction to her clients.

In this course, we will address treatment strategies, product formulation, vitamins and herbs to assist in the nurturing factors needed in treating women's health issues.

Dates: July 24-26, 2020 (3 days) — 9:00 am-5:00 pm

Venue: Fairfield Inn & Suites, 1089 S. Hover, Longmont, Colorado

Special room rate at Fairfield Inn & Suites if booked by June 15, 2020
Hotel booking link:*

Fee: $675 payable at time of registration; Early Bird rate $599 if paid by April 15, 2020

Payments are non-refundable, but transferable. See website for details.*

Register: Online at www.ijpha.com or by mailing a check payable to 'IJPHA' and include your name, address, telephone number and email address and mail to the address below.

Questions? +1 815-814-1444

hosted by THE INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF PROFESSIONAL HOLISTIC AROMATHERAPY
528 Folklore Avenue, Longmont, CO 80301 USA

A joint Aromatic Aromathology Therapies (AAT) and IJPHA Certificate will be issued on completion of the course (18 CPD).

Seminar Components

Topics covered:

- Essential oils
- Menstruation
- PMS
- Perimenopause
- Menopause
- Formulations
- Treatment protocols

Participants in this class can expect to learn more with regard to:

- *Understanding hormonal changes in a woman at various stages of life
- *Contraindications that may be relevant at the time of consult
- *Specific complaints outside the medical realm
- *Medications and Interactions using essential oils
- *Assessing the ailment for treatment strategies
- *Treatment protocol addressing the strategies
- *Product formulation
- *Practical application using treatment protocols designed

With regard to the above, we will address treatment strategies, product formulation, vitamins and herbs to assist in the nurturing factors needed in treating women's health issues.

When selecting essential oils by chemistry, Deby will review the major constituents along with the actions of the essential oil as part of the rationale for selection.

Where possible I will only use Native Australian and home distilled common essential oils in product formulation, as we only have a certain amount of the common oils there will be others that you will find that can assist in the nurturing factors needed in treating women's health issues.
-D. Atterby

Deby Atterby

Deby Atterby is the editor and publisher of the Aromatherapy Today international journal and has been an active Aromatherapy lecturer for over 30 years, she has attained a wealth of knowledge in clinical aromatic medicine. In 2001, she trained in France with renowned Aromatherapist Dr Daniel Péroël and in 2008, 2009, 2011 and 2013, she returned to France regularly to complete several levels of an Advanced Aromatic Medicine course with Rhiannon Lewis.

On her return from France in 2001 Deby founded Aromatic Aromathology Therapies (AAT) www.aromaticaromathologytherapies.com.au, with the express view of providing an association for Aromatherapists passionate about their profession and the direction of their industry. The AAT assists Aromatherapists with ongoing education to maintain their rating. Deby's quest for knowledge in Aromatics knows no boundaries. She is always researching and studying in an effort to gain all the knowledge she can to maintain the highest possible standard. She has been the Australian ambassador for the Botanica series of conventions run by Rhiannon Lewis since 2014 and launched the Aromatica conference in 2015 and has run bi-annually to 2019 with 2021 already in progress. At Aromatica 2017, Deby launched her book HEALTH, Vitality and Wellbeing -Aromatic Detox Elimination, now in its second edition.