A NOTE FROM MISS JULIE

Remember Sunscreen & Bug Spray every day! We are having fun outside!!

Unstructured play allows children create on their own without adult guidance.

Children naturally, when left to their own devices, will take initiative and create activities and stories in the world around them.

The most creative play takes place outside with adult supervision. The outdoors may provide more opportunities for free play due to the many movable parts, such as sticks, dirt, leaves and rocks which lend themselves to exploration and creation.

Explanation of Categories

During smoky days we are using the State of Alaska's DEC Air Quality page to determine if it is safe for the children to play outside. Any indication of "orange" deems children as sensitive group and should reduce exposure to being outside. We have purchased air purifiers for each classroom as well.
