FOOD GLORIOUS FOOD

The North York Moors National Park is home to some of the most breathtaking landscape in the country. Its heather clad moorland, lush green dales and stunning coastline provide the ingredients for some mouthwatering food and drink available from farm gates, delicatessens and a wealth of homely pubs and cafes.

Stroll through the North York Moors and you'll be accompanied by a buzz of bees. With the largest expanse of heather moorland in England, there's no shortage of delicious heather honey in the National Park - perfect for drizzling on porridge or just spooning direct from the jar.

Buying from local butchers, farmers markets or from the farm gate not only means you know exactly where the meat has come from but you'll also be helping to support local farmers too.

Sample a pint of refreshing Endeavour Ale, just one of the many real ales brewed in the North York Moors by Cropton Brewery. Or why not try cider from the orchards at Ampleforth Abbey or wine made on the coast at Skinningrove?

Enjoy the unique experience of staying on a vineyard in the North of England. Ryedale Vineyards Bed and Breakfast, is a Farfield Grade II listed farmhouse which has been sympathetically restored and retains many original characteristics.

THE white swan INN

the 'inn' place to dine...

If you're into honest food, good wine, beautiful surroundings and great hospitality, you're going to love Yorkshire's leading inn. Recommended in the Good Food Guide 2011.

Our chefs are renowned for their sensational creations - simple goodness from fresh ingredients, that are sourced in season, properly cooked, and presented on your table with a minimum of food miles.

For instance our meat supply comes from London's top butcher The Ginger Pig. In fact their fantastic rare-breed meat is just farmed within seven miles of the inn and delivered straight from the farm.

You can eat in the bar, lounge or restaurant... all warmed by roaring log fires in the winter. Dine on your own, or as part of a group - parties of eight or more can choose the Private Dining Room.
