By Providing Effective*

Attic Exhaust Ventilation

Effective attic ventilation is critical for a long-lasting roof! A properly balanced attic ventilation system will help to:

- Remove excess heat and moisture to protect your roof from premature deterioration
- Avoid roof rot in your attic or roof deck
- Minimize peeling and extend the life of exterior and interior paint
- Limit the growth of harmful mold
- Safeguard your attic possessions against mildew damage
- Guard against ice damming in harsh winter climates
- Promote energy efficiency by reducing excessive heat in your attic

Cobra Ridge Runner® Exhaust Vent is a key part of the GAF Lifetime Roofing System, and has even earned the prestigious Good Housekeeping Seal (applicable in U.S. only; see reverse).

Balanced Ventilation Requirements

Balanced ventilation requires an equal amount of intake ventilation and exhaust ventilation. GAF recommends, at a minimum, providing 1 square foot of Net Free Ventilation for every 300 square feet of attic floor space. Consult local building codes for specific ventilation requirements in your area.

1. Calculate the total square footage of the attic floor area (round up to the next highest number). This number will determine the minimum total lineal feet of Cobra Ridge Runner® Exhaust Vent that is needed.
2. Find the appropriate amount of Cobra Ridge Runner® Exhaust Vent and minimum intake ventilation that corresponds to the total attic square footage.

Based on 1/300 Rule

Total Attic Square Footage	Recommended Length of Cobra Ridge Runner® Exhaust Vent (Feet)	Minimum Intake Ventilation (Net Free Area in Sq. In.)
1600	31	388
1900	37	463
2200	43	533
2500	48	600
2800	54	675
3100	60	750
3400	66	825

Cobra Ridge Runner® Exhaust Vent has 12.5 sq. in./lineal ft. of net free ventilating area.

NOTE: Always have a balanced ventilation system. In no case should the amount of exhaust ventilation at the ridge exceed the amount of soffit ventilation.
