

As we join in many jurisdiction(s) to help our related organizations, we must also make sure that our in-house affairs are also well.

My Dear Queens,

Let us take on a NEW focus of protecting our fellow queens. In order to prepare for the incoming pageant year, one of my many main focuses are to teach conflict-resolution; such as:

I aim to educate our queens more on how to foster better relationships with our male colleagues and fearlessly address concerns when those relationships fail in order to rebuild them, more so bringing resolutions,

I aim to help queens in improving the line of communication for receiving support from local campuses and speak up effectively when conflict arises,

I aim to teach queens how-to effectively hold partners accountable.

Remember; your voices matter, you are more than just a platform, and although we cannot change the patterns of the past or amend ways of the elders but we can protect our future.

I stand with you - my queens; stand with me for the voices that were uncounted for by educating your campus on both public and private causes that impact the state of all queens' well being.

We will highlight the causes & the crown at council.
That's where I'll educate - See you there!
Thank you for being you.

Madame Pageant