

Keeping Traditional Midwifery Alive

~ an afternoon with Hawai'ian traditional midwife & midwifery educator Clare Loprinzi

Monday 21st May 2012, 4-6:30pm

At The Happy Cell, 121-123 Davigdor Road, Hove, BN3 1RE

Clare is a traditional midwife who comes from a long line of Sicilian midwives. Based in Hawai'i, she has been supporting women in their journey through pregnancy and birth for over 30 years and has a wealth of experience regarding practical and spiritual ways to support a woman and baby through their transformational birth experience.

On this rare visit to England she will be sharing her insights, experience and skills regarding:

- Traditional Midwifery/ working with senses/ motherwit/ love
- Creating birth dances/creating prayer/visualization for midwives
- Birth preparation ceremony

The day promises to be lots of fun, involving birth dance/ yoga moves, and a chance to learn from this deeply experienced and powerful woman.

We really hope you will be able to join us for this rare and inspiring opportunity.

Places are limited, so you are advised to book now.

Costs £10 for pre-bookings/ £15 on the day~ all proceeds to the birth movements listed below

FOR BOOKINGS: Contact Ele Denman +44(0) 7531~279120 or info@eledenman.com

For more information about Clare please visit: www.clareloprinzi.com

For more information about Mammaprimitiva, the midwifery education course Clare oversees please visit: www.mammaprimitiva.com/