

Trainer Jump Start – 90/10 Program

This program is an excellent option for facilities that are able to dedicate more time to raising and training a new puppy. During this program, the puppy will stay with the trainer for 6 weeks to start the program, and then the puppy will stay with the Primary Handler for the remainder of the program. All of the Shared Custody program options begin with an intensive 12-month training program, and then switch to a fine-tuning phase where the trainer is available for occasional maintenance sessions in the facility. After the 22-month program, the ownership of the puppy will be transferred from Paws for Responders to the facility. Since most puppies start the program between 2-3 months of age, they will be around 2 years old when the program is finished.

Please read through the following pages to learn more about the different stages of training, the overview of the training schedule and payment plan, as well as a list of all expenses covered by the cost of the program. Paws for Responders is dedicated to helping every facility, handler, and puppy succeed, and we are excited to assist you throughout the process of training a working facility dog.
