

Finding the Right House

Finding the right home can be exciting, but sometimes overwhelming. Before deciding which house to buy, consider your lifestyle, current and anticipated housing needs and your budget. It is a good idea to create a prioritized list of features you want in your new home. Be sure to have a balance of your "must haves" and your "nice-to-haves".

You should also consider the distance to work, convenience and accessibility to schools, medical facilities, daycare, traffic, parking and recreational facilities.

Nevertheless, searching for your new home should be FUN and EXCITING.