Osage Minerals Councilman Melvin Core has researched out several documents pertaining to the apparent likelihood that “One Ballot, One Vote” may already be nearer a reality for the Osage Shareholders than what was first thought. Included below are the documents he has assembled, plus a recent letter he has sent to Congress. Each of us should carefully read this information. There is a lot to digest, so please don’t rush through it. These are the same documents that he passed out to the Council on Wednesday, August 21, 2013. His letter to Congress has been added as #2.

This is exactly what a media committee should do! Mr. Core is making the details he has on this issue available to everyone almost in real time. This will allow all Shareholders to consider the facts and let Congress and the Council know what we think before it comes up for a vote.

This assemblage of documents are in individual PDF format and each is posted directly adjacent to this document, and are numbered 2., 3., 4., 5., and 6.

This issue is a real political hot potato. You will read and hear many different ideas, and probably some very loud screaming and hollering, both pro and con. I hope all Shareholders will read and hear everything available, but, in the end, MAKE UP YOUR OWN MIND!! This is very important.

Mr. Core is doing his job by asking for your thoughts. It is our responsibility as Shareholders to respond, and let the Congress and the Council know what you think.

Ray McClain, Osage Shareholder
