

St. PETER'S CHAIR

In St. Peter's there is a chair that the church claims Peter used in Rome. If one looks closely at the chair you will see pagan symbols decorating the front, and large brass rings designed to have poles pulled through them so the chair could be lifted up and paraded through public. Can you imagine Peter being paraded around in public and treated this way, sitting on a chair decorated with witchcraft symbols?

(Mar 23/16) Jerry Hennig