From the Prez

Happy Thanksgiving
Shellers!

Well, our field trip to Honeymoon got blasted out by T.S. Nestor. Disappointing, but that's the risk when you live in Florida. We have our trip to Blackthorne Park coming up on the 16th of this month. See the field trip section for specifics and send me a text or email if you want to go but haven't signed up. It's one of my favorite places!

The annual holiday party is Friday, December 6. Please make sure you bring your checkbook to the meeting if you wish to go. The final cost per meal will be announced at the November meeting right after the board meeting. We need to have a final count of attendees to give to the Bird Key Yacht Club caterer by Friday, November 29th, so this is not something you can dawdle on or you will be left out. We will have lots of fun as always!

On a final note, it was so good to see Maynard Kaplan back at our meeting last month! I hope everyone had a chance to greet him. He's planning on going with us to Keewaydin in January. I know he'll take lots of photos.

SOUTH MANATEE LIBRARY DISPLAY

The Shell Club will be setting up a large display on November 5th at the South Manatee Library. It will run till the end of the month. It will feature scientific as well as artistic items. Information about the club and shell show will be available. Come visit the exhibit, tell a friend, we'd love to gather in some new members.

A 2019-2020 Membership Form is on the back page—Give one to a Friend!

Fieldtrip information and updates:

***Always make sure I have your cell phone number when you sign up for a trip!

Saturday, November 16th

Blackthorne Park – low tide is 8:39 am at -0.3 ft. Blackthorne Park is located on the northwest end of the Skyway causeway. This trip is like a Carefree Learner trip without the boat. One can just walk from the small beach right out onto the grass flats. I plan on being there at 7:30 am. Don't forget that the toll booth is $1.50 now!

Saturday, December 14th

Boca Grande Island – low tide is 8:28 am at -0.4 ft. Boca Grande is just 30 minutes from North Port. I will have directions at the meeting. We will be able to have lunch after we shell. At the moment, I cannot remember if there is a toll to get onto the island or not.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 26th-28th

St. George Island State Park- low tide on Friday is 8:31 am at -0.7 ft
This is a trip we have never done before and because it is a six hour drive, I have planned on driving up Thursday, shelling on Friday and driving back on Saturday. We will be staying at the Buccaneer Inn. The cost will be $120 per night for a King/2 Queen standard room. It is $108 if you have AARP. If enough people want to go, I can get an even better group rate but I need to know really soon! This hotel is RIGHT ON THE BEACH! And it is only one of two hotels on the island.

Sunday, January 12th, 2020

Keewaydin Island – low tide is 8:35 am at -0.8 ft. This island is just north of Marco and only accessible by boat. We have a woman who has a big pontoon boat who is willing to take us out early on Sunday but only if we fill the boat (20-22 people). The cost would be about $50 per person. PLEASE SIGN UP FOR THIS TRIP! This is another place we haven't been, at least not in a long time. ****I should have a final cost and information for this by the November meeting. It looks like we might have 21 signed up to go!

Carefree Learner Trips onto Sarasota Bay

Please remember to pay $5 CASH ONLY when you sign up!

Friday, January 10th, 2020 – low tide is 7:21 am. Be at the south end of Marina Jack's parking lot by 6 am. (YES, 6 am!) The boat will leave the dock by 6:30 am. There is a maximum of 24 people but if less than 12 people sign up the trip will be canceled.

Friday, January 24th, 2020 – low tide is 7:25 am. Be at the south end of Marina Jack's parking lot by 6 am. (YES, it's still 6 am!) The boat will leave the dock by 6:30 am. There is a maximum of 24 people but if less than 12 people sign up the trip will be canceled.

Historian’s Report

50 Years Ago

Forty-six members and guests attended the November 13, 1969 meeting of the Sarasota Shell Club which was held in the community room of the Palmer Bank. The treasurer reported a balance of $1472.28.

It was announced that shell show entries are due.

The Christmas party will be held at the Plaza Restaurant. Those attending can choose either chicken and rice or beef stroganoff for $3.50. Members are to bring a $1 gift for the exchange. [Editorial note: anyone nostalgic for the 1960s?]

Club member Selma Lawson gave the program. She provided a slide show and comments about a trip to the Philippines. The minutes note that the program made for “a very enjoyable evening.”

25 Years Ago

Twenty members and guests attended the November 19, 1994 meeting of the Sarasota Shell Club which was held at Mote Marine. An “abbreviated” treasurer’s report indicated “over $3000” in the checking account.

It was moved, seconded, and passed to retain membership in COA. The Board approved having a “Buy-Sell-Trade” column in the newsletter. Ads in this column will cost $1.

The mini program was given by Jean Evans on the nautilus. June Bailey gave the main program demonstrating Christmas ornaments made from sea shells and sea life.

ARTISANS, It’s Holiday Ornament time!

We will be having the annual ornament class on Thursday November 21st from 6:00 pm to 8:00 pm. Ornament supplies will be $5.00 for each ornament made. If you have an idea for one and want to make it bring a picture and we will see if we can duplicate it. It’s always a fun night. Respond to Donna Bartels, text, email or phone call. Maximum number for class will be 10-12 participants. We will have the class at the Bee Ridge Presbyterian Church where the artisans meet every week.

Library Notes

Our Sarasota Shell Club library is located at the Bee Ridge Presbyterian Church in Sarasota. A list of our books is on the website www.sarasotashellclub.com. For more info on some of our books, go to www.mdshell-books.com.

You may want a book to help with your scientific or artistic exhibit at our SSC Shell Show or just educate yourself about shells and marine life, as well as helping you identify shells you find.

Call me at 941-993-5161 or email me (Linda) at luvseashells@gmail.com to arrange an appointment for browsing our library or just talk about our exciting library books. There is a whole world of seashells and marine life out there!

How much deeper would the ocean be without sponges?

A recent trip to a chinese restaurant with the end-of-the-meal fortune cookie had the above saying (or question) in it.

Donna Bartels responded saying that there would be no change at all.

Mark Your Calendar for Our Holiday Party

Back by popular demand, our annual Holiday Party will be held at the Bird Key Yacht Club on Friday, Dec. 6, 2019. Details are being finalized and we hope to unveil an exciting choice of dinner menu options at our November 8th membership meeting. But, for now, mark your calendars and save that date! Be prepared to pay for the party at the November meeting. See Page 14 for details!

October Membership Meeting Highlights

Duane Kauffmann, Sally Peppitoni and Karen Huether ponder on a computer issue.

Sales were semi-brisk in the back of the room.

Marilyn Reed gives the shell talk on the flame helmet, the Shell of the Month

Frank Peppitoni takes a front seat to hear all the good news.

A Postcard from the Past . . .

"Thanksgiving Greetings" headlines this holiday card with a shell serving as the basis for a wagon. Sent Nov. 20, 1909 (110 years ago) by a lady to Mrs. Phillips in Maryland. The sender was "duffrized" about hearing of friend's illness.

2020 Shell Show Coming Up Fast!

Now that summer vacation is over, preparation efforts are intensifying for our upcoming 57th Annual Sarasota Shell Club Shell Show, which will be here in just five short months! The show will be held from Friday, Feb. 7 through Sunday, Feb. 9, 2020 at the Potter Building, 2896 Ringling Blvd, Sarasota. The show is held right next to Robarts Arena.

Show hours are: 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. Price remains unchanged: only $5 for adults, students from ages 12 to 18 are half price, and kids 11 and under are free with a paid adult admission.

Information about the show is available on the club's website, www.sarasotashellclub.com under the heading 2020 Shell Show. If you are planning on entering either a scientific or artistic exhibit, the forms are on the website, along with the Rules of the Show. Scientific Exhibitors—better hurry and get your form in, we are limited on space and have had to turn exhibits away since we moved to our new location two years ago. To help allow more exhibitors, we have added another 8-foot table on each exhibit row, plus we have limited the scientific exhibit length to no more than 24 feet. We, also, are almost full with dealer table assignments.

Education about shells is an important focus of the club, and the shell show committee is examining how we can expand our demonstration, children's area, and educational areas.

More information about the show will be provided in future newsletters, plus at our general membership meetings. If you have any questions or comments, you can contact any of the board members or send us a note at sarasotashellclub@gmail.com. So, please be thinking about which areas of the shell show you would like to help be involved in! This truly is a great time for us to showcase what our club is and help people learn more about shell life here in Southwest Florida!

By Bruce Paulsen, Shell Show Committee

The Sarasota Shell Club's Shell

This Siratus beauii shell was purchased at the 2019 COA auction in Captiva, FL in June, 2019 (with board approval) for use in a permanent display to be used for meetings and for our shell show. Work is in progress and it should be ready for display at the November meeting for members to view

Don't Be Like Lazy Larry; Get Your Scientific, Artistic Exhibit Entry Form In Early

Are you planning on entering either a Scientific Exhibit or an Artistic Exhibit in our 2020 Shell Show? If you are, please be sure and get your entry forms in as soon as you can. As you know, since we moved to our new location in Sarasota, our exhibit space is tight. In the past, we've even had to put several exhibits on a "wait list." Entry forms are due no later than Jan. 2, 2020, However, don't be a Lazy Larry and be put on a wait list, get your entry form in early!

It's easy. You can get the letter explaining the rules of entering an exhibit, plus the Scientific and Artistic categories form and entry form all on our website at www.sarasotashellclub.com under the 2020 shell show drop box at the top of the page. Any questions may be directed to the respective exhibit chair as indicated on the entry form.

Book Review . . .

Sea Shells of Tropical West America:
Marine Mollusks from Baja California to Peru* (2nd ed.).

A review of Keen, A. Myra (1971), Sea Shells of Tropical West America: Marine Mollusks from Baja California to Peru (2nd ed.); Stanford, CA: Stanford University Press.

As some members of the Sarasota Shell Club are aware, the Club recently received a large donation from the estate of John Gunter. A large portion of the shells in this collection come from Panama, the western side. Thus it seems fitting to give attention to the work of Myra Keen which is published in the large book (1064 pages) to be reviewed. Although it will be noted that this is an older work, it still appears to be the most comprehensive treatment of the shells found in “tropical west America.”

The contemporary user of this work will almost reflexively recoil as the shell pictures are in black and white (although there are 12 color plates located near the end of the volume). And when one then discovers that the written descriptions are seldom on the facing page, the user needs considerable digital dexterity to hold open the picture page while rummaging around to find the relevant written account. But such frustration is usually worth the effort since it is highly likely that Keen will have exactly the identification material you need (at least for all the larger and more common shells).

There are however several inevitable frustrations (some of which can now be easily overcome given the ready availability of the internet). First, given the age of the book, and the steady inflow of new information, the user will need to consult WoRMS or Malacolog to verify the correct taxonomic genus. Second, the black and white pictures limitation can be overcome by a quick Google search since color photos are often available on-line. Third, the written descriptions are often frustratingly brief and only marginally helpful. Fourth, those with small or uncommon species will find the inevitable roadblock of species list with no pictures and no written descriptions. To note only two examples. Thirty-nine species of Caecum are listed, but only 10 are pictured. And for Turbonilla, 203 species are listed; 15 are pictured! Clearly more specialized literature will be needed.

We will have many West Panama shells for sale at the Show (at very reasonable prices). For those of you who purchase a few (or many), a trip to the Club library for Keen’s book will be essential.

Anyone who has donations for our Shell Show Raffle please contact me (Donna Krusenowski) or bring them to the November meeting.

*A Family Divided** (Purpura patula and Purpurea pansa)

Lynn Gaulin

Millions of years ago continents of the earth were connected to form a mega-continent, called Pangea. This huge land mass eventually separated forming seven continents. Eons passed and the then separate continents of North America and South America joined as we know them today. This connecting of the two continents created a land barrier separating the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. Sea life that once moved within their common waters were now separated by this new land mass. Over millions of years molluscan species evolved and survived on both sides of this land mass. Today, many mollusk species are similar but not identical as they once were due to this separation. Species that have a common origin are called cognates. Purpura patula and Purpurea pansa are members of this divided family and are cognates.

The Atlantic and Caribbean, Purpura patula (Linnaeus, 1748), commonly called the “wide-mouth” rock shell, can be found attached to rock faces around the tide line along the Atlantic shores of Palm Beach, Florida to Trinidad and the Caribbean Sea. Since its common name is wide-mouth you can infer that it has a large aperture or mouth-like opening where the animal lives and withdraws into. The outer shell of these mollusks is worn and dull in color. However, their large aperture is a bright, shiny salmon color.

The western or Pacific Ocean cousin is Purpura pansa (Gould, 1853) is also found on the exposed intertidal splash zones or tidal pools from Mexico’s west coast to Columbia, South America. One difference between these two species is that Purpura pansa has white through most of the shell’s length within the parietal or inside of the shell. Young specimens of Purpura pansa seem to have more nodules or bumps covering the shell.

Both Purpura patella and Purpura pansa are carnivorous gastropods and can prey on other members of their own family. Prey is immobilized with a secretion paralyzing victims by stinging them with their radula. Another similar feature of these two Purpurea’s is the nodular whorls outside their shells. These nodular whorls, or small bumps, decrease in size from the front top of the shell and moving down the back of the shell. The bands of spacing between the rows increase in size moving down the shell. Both species are grayish in color with a much smaller operculum than their aperture. This mollusk recedes quite far into the shell’s opening when closing its operculum.

Early authors gave the family Purpura [Muricidae—Ed] its name due to their excreting a milky liquid when annoyed or handled. This liquid turns a bluish, deep red color in the presence of sunlight.

Muricidae or Murex shells found in the Mediterranean Sea also secrete a purple dye. History tells us that early civilizations used the Mediterranean species of Murex brandaris (Linnaeus, 1758) to dye ceremonial robes of their Emperors and it had other uses in their religious ceremonies. Mediterranean people crushed the murex shells to obtain this purple dye, thus killing the mollusk.

The people of the Americas were able to get their dye without killing the mollusks: live specimens would be collected and then they would milk the snails causing a mucous bubble or froth to be excreted as the snail would withdraw back into its shell. This milky frothy mass would be collected and smeared on cotton threads of cloth. As this milky froth is exposed to light and air, it turns a purple color and thus would dye cotton material purple. The live specimens would be returned to the tidal pools or rocks giving a continued source of dye without injuring or killing the gastropods.

Shell Club Artisan's Update -

from Suzanne Dietsch

Early last spring a generous donation was made to the club in Mary Weare's name. Her son, Jon Weare, brought to us Mary's collection of fossil shells. He wished for us to use her collection for promoting / raising funds for our club's special projects.

The larger fossils were auctioned off earlier this year during a monthly club meeting. The smaller fossils, of which there are many, will be arranged in a sailor's valentine to be raffled at our upcoming shell show. I was lucky enough to meet with Jon & Family during our last shell show. Nancy Marini, however had BIG plans for this valentine and sent the smallest of fossils home with me to Illinois. I am beginning to create the 11 in. sailor's valentine with a beautiful case donated by Carol Johnston and Ed Brown.

Each month I will post an update to the newsletter on my progress. And a special thanks goes to Donna Cassin. While looking through Nancy's notes we can now correctly credit the valentine in Mary Weare's name.

2019 Sarasota Shell Club's Holiday Party

The holidays are right around the corner and so is our annual Holiday Dinner. This year's event will be Friday, Dec. 6 at the Bird Key Yacht Club, 301 Bird Key Dr, Sarasota. The social period will begin at 5:30 p.m. Dinner will follow around 6:15 p.m.

This year's menu choices are:

*Roast Mesquite Rubbed Beef Tenderloin, served with horseradish cream and Bearnaise, vegetable medley and roasted potatoes

Or

*Barramundi Sautéed with lemon butter over vegetable orzo and asparagus tips.

Dinner comes with fresh baked bread basket, Caesar salad, Warm Lava Cake and non-alcoholic beverages. A cash bar will be available.

Tickets will be sold at the November meeting. The board will meet right before the general membership meeting to decide whether the club will subsidize the cost to club members. The cost for non-members is $43, which includes gratuity. A special email will be sent to all club members after the November meeting to alert you to the final cost so those who were not at the November meeting can get your reservation in. The deadline for reservations will be Tuesday, Nov. 26. Questions about the holiday dinner may be directed to Bruce Paulsen, at 941-375-8158 or by email at sarasotashellclub@gmail.com. If you have any special dietary requests, please let Bruce know in advance.

This year, we will have a silent auction, an oral auction for the table centerpieces, and a trivia contest about shells. You will be able to use your smart phone to help find the answers to the trivia questions. If you have an item you would like to donate to the silent auction, please bring it to the November meeting or contact Bruce Paulsen for special arrangements to pick up.

And, who knows, there may be a "special something" under the tree for those of you who have been good over the past year! We hope to see a great many of you at this year's event!

Ho Ho Ho!
