

Naughty but nice at the Naughty Goat Farm

Hamish Gale, Adam Liaw, from Destination Flavour, (he was also a contestant on Master Chef) and Nicolle Williams at Autumn on James Street, in Fortitude Valley.

THE Naughty Goat Farm has arranged to supply Radiation Oncology Queensland with a free bar of their goat milk soap for every patient receiving radiation treatment for cancer at their Toowoomba branch.

"We're very excited," said Hamish Gale. "A friend of mine was undergoing radiation treatment, and the information pack suggested using goat milk soap, because it is so gentle on the skin."

And that's where Hamish saw an opportunity for the Naughty Goat Farm to do some good.

"We have been negotiating with ROQ for the past couple of months and earlier this week we reached an agreement."

"We start supplying the ROQ Toowoomba branch in about one month and hope to spread to the other ROQ treatment facilities this year."

"In total, we will be supplying 2,100 free bars of our soap per year to patients, at a retail value of over $12,600 per year."

"We are doing this for free to help those in need and to give our business some much needed exposure," Hamish said.

"Goat Milk Soap is known to help with sensitive skin problems and we hope it will bring some relief and comfort to patients."

"However - we do need everyone's support to make our business successful so we can afford to give like this."

"So please head into Lucy Walker Pharmacy in Goondiwindi and ask for our products next time you are in town."

Or if you don't live in Goondiwindi hop on our website to order at www.naughtygoatfarm.com.au or find us on Facebook," Hamish said.
