IGNITE, MOTIVATE AND ENCOURAGE

FROM ALTERNATIVE EDUCATION STUDENT TO ADMINISTRATOR

Dr. Woodley was a teen mom, an alternative school student who turn her pain into purpose and dedicated her life to working with at promise students and school transformation initiatives. Her educational background includes a specialist degree in educational leadership and a doctorate degree in Counseling Psychology. She has been a teacher, school counselor, school improvement specialist, assistant principal, principal and assistant superintendent. Since 2008, she has worked as a turnaround leader helping to bring about positive changes in some of the lowest performing schools in Georgia and Missouri. Today she travels around the world working with organizations to help ignite, motivate and encourage transformation in “at promise” communities worldwide!

DR. WOODLEY WAS SELECTED AS ONE OF ED WEEK MAGAZINES LEADERS TO LEARN FROM

She has a proven track record of designing programs and interventions that increase productivity and performance taking organizations from where they are to where they want to be. Her life principle is to be a catalyst that ignites, motivates, and encourages individuals and organizations to reach their full potential. She is fulfilling her life principle by leading and supporting programs that make a difference in the lives of at promise youth and communities all over the world!

TESTIMONIALS

Since 2013, the National Dropout Prevention Center has periodically utilized Dr. Woodley's expertise as a trainer, conference presenter, and consultant. She has delivered keynote presentations on school improvement strategies at our national conferences, has advised other school leaders, and has served on teams to analyze and advise administrators of other school districts to resolve challenging issues. In these settings, I have observed Dr. Woodley to effectively guide principals of struggling schools on issues of instruction, staffing, student services, and school climate.- Dr. Sandy Addis, Chairman of the National Dropout Prevention Center

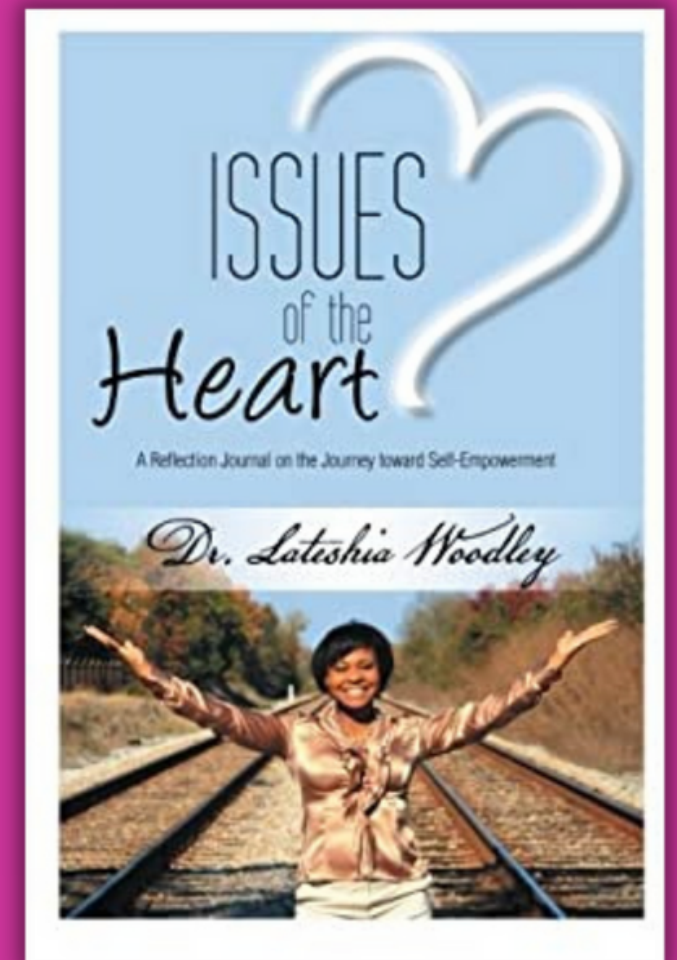

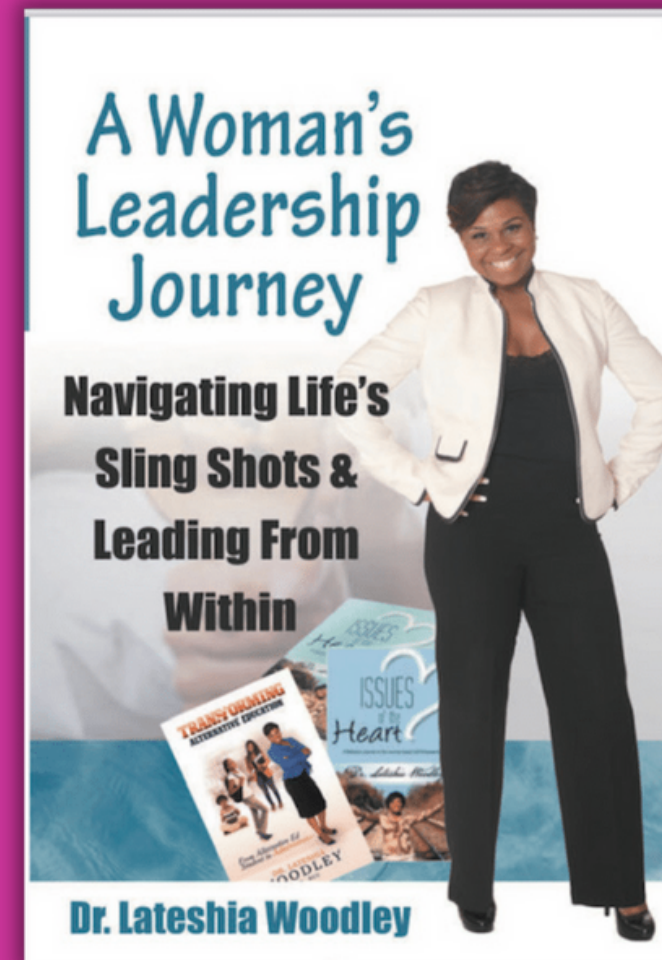

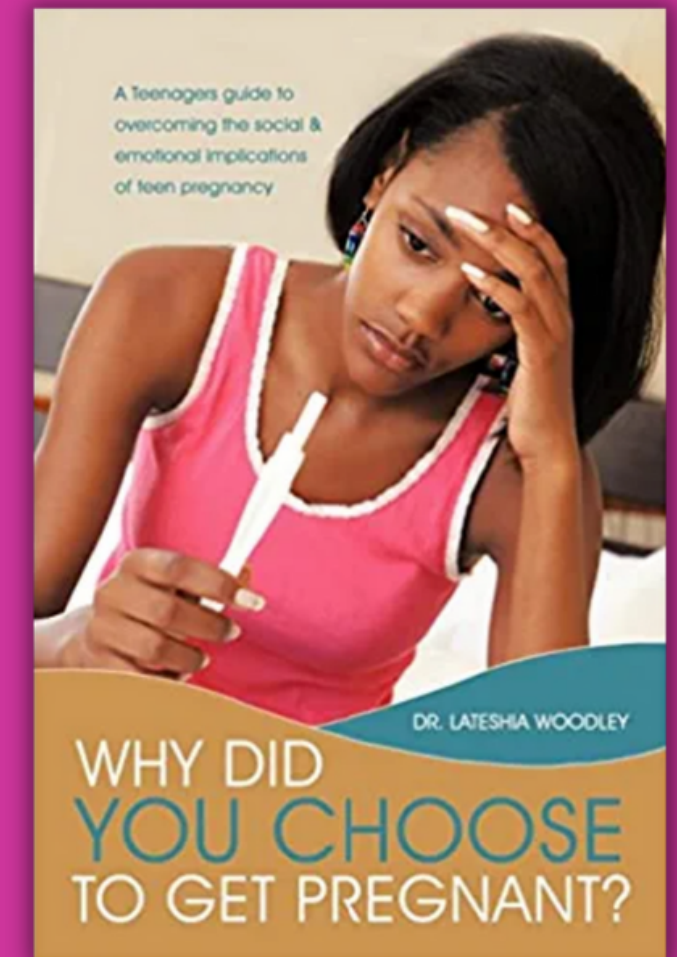

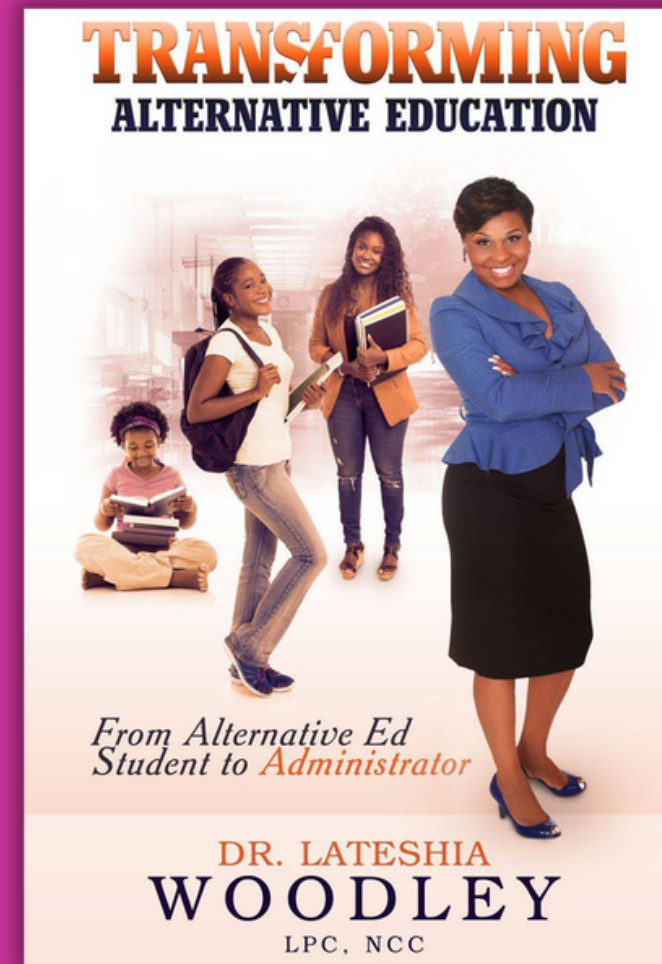

Dr. Woodley leadership journey has provided her with numerous experiences in multiple facets of leadership. She has a proven track record of being a change agent in schools, all of which have made a positive impact in working with students and staff. I have called upon her to serve as a consultant for school improvement during my leadership with the Georgia Department of Education and Cognia.- Dr. Linda Massenburg Director Institutional Improvement Cognia

Dr. Woodley was recognized as the 2022 First Call's Community Champion Award for her leadership in Whole Child Supports building a trauma informed school system focusing on the social and emotional needs of students. The result have been life changing.- First Call of Kansas City

I want to thank you for sharing your story and serving as the keynote speaker at our District Teacher Institute. Our educators truly benefited from your story and your work as an educator. You are such a positive role model. I appreciate your willingness to share your story and the work that you do everyday to make this world a better place for our children. – Casey Davis Assistant Superintendent Tallapoosa County School District
