

Jazzmine Nolan

www.linkedin.com/in/jazzminemarienolan

www.jazzminemarienolan.com

To whom it may concern,

While engaging in a very impactful career as a business consultant, It is important for me to maintain my responsibility to the next generation of leaders. In addition to my intentional selection of projects through Marie Management LLC. for the betterment of national and international communities, I offer training and development through many platforms. Through workshops for collegiate scholarship, for entrepreneurs and establishing their corporate responsibility initiatives, classes for secondary and post-secondary students on entrepreneurship and training on strategic planning for nonprofit boards of directors; I maintain the importance of innovative development and knowledge.

I hold a Bachelor's of Science in Healthcare Management, a Masters of Public Administration and am a current Doctoral Candidate within a Business Administration-Public Policy program. I have spent 10 years in the nonprofit sector within several different director and executive level management capacities. However, my most valued-added work has been done within the past seven years as a business consultant. Through my desire to structure and develop companies, I have completed strategic planning, structure, development and operations services for thousands of entrepreneur led companies globally.

Within the description, I found several descriptors that represent me: well-versed in business structure, business development, urban development and entrepreneurial innovations and creations. The ability to create and execute curriculum for small or large audiences with professional facilitation for both businesses and audiences. Experience in assessing and evaluating processes, progress, outcomes and results. Keen management skills and competency in progressive performance of individuals and businesses.

Given my hands on career experience and real world education applications to various audiences, I am able to apply my skills, abilities and expertise on behalf of companies, students and entrepreneurs worldwide. Please refer to the enclosed resume for a more detailed explanation of the above. If you have a desire to talk further, I can be reached at jnolan@marie-management.com.

Thank You for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Jazzmine Nolan

(Enc: Resume)