SPORT

Sport may be seen as self-fulfillment (personal point of view), when the objective of this physical activity is health, well-being.

It is then an individual, personal practice.

But Sport may be considered in the context of Team Sports. The idea of Team Spirit goes beyond the physical activity.

There might be a socializing effect to team sports practice (be on a team / be part of a club / attend a regular practice)

Sport probably then affects the whole society, as it is often used to improve social integration in certain neighborhoods, to develop social skills.

Sport is also Entertainment, an escapist entertainment. (TV)
