A WORD FROM COMPANY OWNER
Phillip Karaya
Consultant / Professor /
Karaya Consulting Founder

There are known knowns, known unknowns, and unknown unknowns in life. I created this company to begin bridging the gap for those who out of fear wouldn't dive into the known unknowns, and those who were never aware of the unknown unknowns.

Money is not everything in life and far from what makes us happy. However, it is a currency of exchange necessary to take care of our basic needs as human beings. I wanted to be able to help as many people take care of the basic needs of themselves and their families. It is within every person's right to go after what they want in life past basic necessities, and I wanted to find a way to provide value to those who have found ways to take care of the basics but needed assistance to turn their dreams into attainable goals. It has been my absolute pleasure watching people's lives turn into what they want them to be
