

Structure of Plants

- OB45 identify the main parts of a typical flowering plant and their functions; the root, stem, leaf and flower
- OB46 understand that the xylem transports water and minerals in the plant and that the phloem transports food
- OB47 carry out simple activities to show the path of water through plant tissue, and show that water evaporates from the surface of a leaf by transpiration

