

Virtual Wine Class:

ITALY'S BEST KEPT WINE SECRETS

Thursday, January 20, 2022

7:00 PM EST

2000 years ago the Italian peninsula was known as "The Land of Wine." But today, Italy is more known for its food.

What happened?

In this wine class, author and importer Tony Margiotta will share a story about Italian wine culture and the local artisan wine scene that is leading the charge in quality and expression today. You don't want to miss this!

You will discover:

- Which Types Of Italian Wine Are Showing Outstanding Value Today
- The One Wine You Should Avoid At All Costs
- A Red Wine That Claims To Be The Secret To Longevity
- When In Rome, Do As The Romans Do With This Timeless Wine
- 4 Delicious Italian Wine & Food Pairings That Beat Dining Out

Join us for a virtual hour of La Dolce Vita with good company while insider Tony Margiotta shares a new way of exploring Italian wine!

We'll be tasting 4 hard-to-find local artisan wines from across Italy.

There is no obligation to purchase wine to attend this class. You're welcome to have any wine of your choice during the program. If you decide to purchase the four wines presented during the class you have two options to choose from: There is a 4-Bottle Sample Pack that includes one bottle of each wine presented during the class. There is also a mixed 12-bottle case that includes 3 bottles of each label.

To place an order, go to this link: Http://www.italianwines.nyc/secrets

We'll deliver straight to your door in 5 business days via FedEx. If you'd like your wines to arrive before the class, please place your order as early as you can to avoid any unexpected delays.

Instructor Bio: Tony Margiotta

Tony Margiotta roams the less-travelled backroads of the Italian countryside in search of quality craft wines. He's the President of Gladiator Wine Distribution, an importer of small artisanal wines handcrafted in Italy. He's the author of "Hidden Gems of Italy," winner of "The Best European Wine Book In The US" at the Gourmand International Book Competition. His wines have won numerous awards including double gold and silver medals at the New York International Wine Competition. His family comes from a small village called Montaquila in Southern Italy.

Mr. Margiotta has been traveling to Italy for 20 years immersing himself in Italian food, wine, and culture.
