

Mihaela-Alexandra Tudor

Bio: Mihaela-Alexandra TUDOR is Associate Professor Habilitate in Communication Sciences at Paul Valéry University Montpellier 3, France.

IARSic-CORHIS EA 7400, Université Paul Valéry Montpellier 3. Member of the ED 60 doctoral school, Université Paul Valéry Montpellier 3

Functions and responsibilities: She is deputy director of CORHIS (EA 7400) Research Center and PhD supervisor. She is executive editor-in-chief of Essachess – Journal for Communication Studies. Mihaela Tudor is also director of the “Public and political communication” Master program, ITIC-UPVM3.

Member of scholarly associations and networks: Association for the Sociology of Religion – ASR, Network for New Media, Religion and Digital Culture Studies, Comité d’histoire et de philosophie de la science et de la technique de l’Académie Roumaine, ECREA-European Communication Research and Education Association, Société Française de Sciences de l’Information et de la communication, Midiaticom, IARSic.

Research axes and keywords: Mihaela-Alexandra Tudor’s research focuses on the study of New technologies of Information and Communication (NTIC), transformations of the organisations, governance and authority through digital media, secularism/secularization in the public sphere, religion and new spiritualities through the prism of mediatization, cultural analysis of interreligious networking and dialogue, radicalisation and violence, cultural/creative industries, public and political communication as well as research methodology.

Publications (selection): <https://www.researchgate.net/profile/Mihaela-Tudor-2/research>