Published by Marionette Publishing, Doniel's book is written through an inspiration from a life changing experience which happened when she came back from work one day and found several police cars in front of her house – Her daughter had been taken. The event helped her build a strong faith in God in the face of challenges. Through the book, she provide readers with numerous events of despair, betrayal, and fear turns into trust, faith, peace, and total victory over the enemy.

An interview with PR4US : “This is one of my contributions to the world” said Doniel Ervin. She stated further “From my personal life journey as a mother and walk with God it only takes a single event can hold the power to transform a life perception. My life changing experience happened when I returned from work and found that my daughter was taken from my home. As a mother I had to pass through the ordeal but it made me grow stronger faith in God. Resolving that fear was not an option but helped me change my response to a stronger belief in God.” Life is characterized by different occurrences which can cause lots of pain and trauma. Fear is one of the deadly results of unexpected adverse events in life, it can make a once hopeful person lose hope, make a dreamer lose life's vision and create a total health failure. For most people, it could be tough to achieve victory after a severe adversity.

Doniel earned several Bachelor of Science Degrees in Business Management, and Human Resource Management from the University of Phoenix of Houston in 2011, and Christian Biblical Studies from Sure Foundation Theology Institute in 2012. Presently, she'd release her book, “Innocence Invasion” in May 2016 and will receive her Honorary Doctorate Degree in Christian Ministry this July 2016.

What is the proper balance between protecting a child while overcoming adversity? In this book, “Innocence Invasion”, tells the triumph victory of a young mother who left to go to work, only to return in the evening with several police cars in front of her home in Harvey, LA that probes the complexities of unanswered question of Who, What, and WHY, “Oh God!”

For Doniel, fear was not an option, for her not knowing where her child was forced her faith to push through the trauma at hand.

In Innocence Invasion, Doniel shares her testimony in trusting the word God, increased her faith in God to do the impossible within the impossible while searching for her daughter. ## Questions & Answers (2 of 2)

Q6: How did you derive the title for your book?

A6: I pondered a way to let readers know, at a glance, that this book was not only a book of faith prayers and scriptures, but also personal true accounts of a young mother's agony and fear arose from an innocence life that became invaded from un reliable sources.

Q7: Would you describe your book as "spiritual" or "religious"?

A7: I would describe my book as spiritual. Life is characterized by different occurrences which can cause a lot of pains and trauma. Many readers have encounter fear. Fear is one of the deadly results of unexpected adverse events in life, it can make a once hopeful person lose hope, make a dreamer lose life's vision and create a total health failure. For most people, it could be tough to achieve victory after a severe adversity. For this reason, I would not identify my book as religious because being religious confined people to one way of living.

Q8: What do you want readers to take away from reading your book?

A8: The story spoken within the pages of the book will helped readers build a strong faith in God in the face of challenges. Through the book, Doniel provide readers with numerous events of despair, betrayal, and fear turns into trust, faith, peace, and total victory over the enemy.

Q9: Do you have any more book projects planned?

A9: Absolutely! I have additional inspirations to work on another book that will consist of more life changing experiences combined with scriptures. I believe that readers will enjoy it as much as Innocence Invasion, and there are more spiritual encounters within me that I must share with the world!

Q10: Has developing your first book been difficult?

A10: Yes! It was challenging for me to start, but with prayer and guidance through the spirit of God I was able to complete the project and assist others as I complete other projects.
