

NUNS

In this teaching I will explain how the name used to describe the "Vestal Virgins" of the goddess temples of ancient times, became what we call nuns today. The nuns back then sexually represented the fertilities goddesses as what we now call prostitutes, and were in the temples to service the men who came to sacrifice to the goddesses. For over a thousand years now these nuns have been looking after the sexual desires of the priests of the Roman Catholic Church as well as raising money for the Vatican. These suffering slaves of Catholicism, have dedicated their lives to lifting up and raising money by any means to build the equity of the whore of Rome.

The Temples of the heathen gods of old had temple prostitutes available at all times (Hosea 4:14, Gen. 38:21). To have intercourse with these temple prostitutes was considered an act of worship. This is the origin of the word "fornication". Fertility, orgies, and sexual perversion were some of the traits of the mortal /divine "sun gods".

For example; the goddess Brighits temple at Kildare was looked after by woman who were then called "Vestal Virgins". These woman, besides their sexual duties, tended the fires for heathen blood sacrifices. The vestal virgins wore chains around their necks with large "Crosses" on them like the nuns do today. Years later Brighits temple became a "convent" and her "Vestal Virgins" had their names changed to "Nuns". This is the origin of nuns.

Candidates for becoming a nun

The Roman Catholic priests are looking for rich young girls, those who are heirs to big money, because they know that if they become nuns all the money given to these girls for inheritance will be ceased by the RCC. The reality is, the richer the family, the easier it is to become a nun. This is how the Catholic church gets a lot of its money, something most would never even think about.

The bride of their Christ

The young girls are brought into the convent and taught exclusively to obey anything and everything the Mother Superior tells them to do. Once they have proven that they are obedient they go through a ceremony where they wear a special white garment and are proclaimed to be officially a bride of Christ. They are taught that they are special virgin brides forever. They have it explained to them at that point that because of their dedication to the mother church, they and their families automatically receive eternal salvation. Their families can do whatever they desire and be saved because of the sacrifice the girls make when they become nuns.

Then the girls are taught how to make money for the church by what-ever-means is deemed necessary. As official brides of Christ they are taught that the priests literally represent their god and they must do anything any priest asks them to do. They must be obedient to the priests in every way because these are the holy men of god, to disobey them would be to disobey god himself.

On a regular basis, usually once a month minimum, the nuns are brought together in a particular area. They are made to strip naked. The usually drunk, mother superior allows the priests to come in and they are permitted to examine the women however they wish. They choose whichever nun or nuns they desire to have sex with. The nuns, even those who are pregnant, service the priests for as long as they desire in a locked room, and are then released. By servicing the holy men of god the nuns are convinced they are doing their parts as the bride of Christ. Later, if and when the nuns get pregnant, they are kept in isolation as soon as they reveal their pregnancy. The nun has the child and the Mother Superior immediately takes the child away. The common method of murdering these babies is when the mother superior covers its mouth so it can't breath. The babies are usually pre-mature, deformed, and abnormal. The babies are covered with lye and disposed of underground so there is no trace.

The words of Cardinal Peter D'Ailly spoke of the early Roman nunneries as places of immorality, and said that "taking the veil" was simply another mode of becoming a public prostitute.

In Seville, Spain in about 1934 and, in Madrid in about 1932, the governments of the presidents Aznar and Manuel Azana demanded a National investigation be made of all Roman Catholic schools, monasteries, church buildings and convents because of the sexual perversion being reported. Their investigation found many baby skeletons hidden in the caves and tunnels underneath the monasteries and convents. These skeletons were found to be that of children of nuns who were copulating with the priests and monks. The children were proven to have been put to death by suffocation, and hidden underground so the world would never find out. As a result many church buildings were destroyed by the Spanish people themselves. The stories of such incidents were covered up by the Vatican and very few others ever found out.

Celibacy of the Priests

According to Hislop, the writer of "Two Babylon's", the higher order of priesthood of Semiramis (Ishtar/Isis), adhered to a doctrine of celibacy. This seems strange considering that many called Semiramis the prostitute goddess of Babylon. Most scholars are familiar with the celibacy established in the early years of the goddess Cybele's clergy. The city of Rome was thought to be a holy city because of the Papal existence, but the fact is, of its approximate 100,000 population, about 6,000 were prostitutes. The historians have told us that “all the ecclesiastics had mistresses and all the convents were houses of bad fame”.

The violations in the nunneries, convents and monasteries, were so bad in the 9th. century that St. Theodore Studita forbade even female animals (even dogs) on monastery property! In 1477, the night dances and orgies were described by historians as being worse than the public houses of prostitution. The supposed holy men were known as “the husbands of all the women”. Albert the Magnificent, Archbishop of Hamburg went on record exhorting the priests. He said “if you can’t be chaste, at least be careful”. A German bishop charged the priests a tax for each female they kept, and each bastard child that was born because of them. At that time he found through his taxes, that 11,000 women were being kept by the clergy of his diocese alone.

Semiramis capitalized on man's rebellion against Yah's laws of marriage. She promoted celibacy, which was a religious cover to hide adultery, fornication, homosexuality, sodomy, transgender, and lesbianism. This is where Roman Catholic celibacy comes from. The priests are as far away from celibacy, and the nuns as far from virgin, as east is from west.

Special nuns, Carmelite nuns

Special nuns are chosen to live under the black veil. These Carmelite nuns must agree to live in the convent and never leave. They are told they are the closest a woman can get to their god by remaining in solitude in the convents representing their god. They must take three vows, poverty, chastity, and obedience, which are also in writing. The nuns must use their own blood to sign these three vows on paper. They must agree to live in total poverty so they can be closer to their supposed god.

Poverty vow

They must sign official papers stating that any inheritances given to them by anyone, including their families, is to be donated to the Roman Catholic Church. Their families are not even informed of these poverty vows, or obviously they would object. When the families do find out, it is too late. Everything they do in their lives involves them in some way making money for the Vaticanous demon. They are used as saleswomen to get people to contribute to the great cause of the whore of Babylon in one way or another.

Poverty vow ritual

A typical poverty vow ritual involves the nuns participating in a ceremony where they wear a special long red funeral gown and proceed to lay in a coffin symbolically dying for their Christ. They must remain in the coffin covered with a black veil, for nine hours. From that moment on the nun is not allowed to associate or communicate in any way with their family other than by mail. They are allowed to mail letters to their families once a month, but rarely do they receive the letters sent back to them by their family members. In this manner, they are lead to believe that their families no longer want anything to do with them. The letters are inspected and anything they determine to be inappropriate is blacked out so the nun has no idea what's really going on in their families lives.

Sanctified for sex

The nuns are told the priests represent the holy spirit, that their bodies are sanctified and that it is appropriate for the nuns to allow them to have sex with them, just as the holy spirit made Mary pregnant.

In the case of newly qualified nuns, the priest takes the newly committed nun into a special wedding chamber where he seduces her, and in most cases, takes away her virginity. Failure to oblige the priest will bring serious penance for the nun and she will pay dearly for refusing to submit sexually to the priest. Nuns who do not cooperate with the priests are commonly destined to live underground in the convent, not at the floor level or above ground. They remain there until they die or submit to the priests for sexual servicing.

Life in the convent

The nuns all live together but are never allowed to be friendly to one another. They are all taught to be as detectives, watching each other and reporting to the Mother Superior anything they may consider to be inappropriate. With this self imposed policing, the nuns are kept in check by their own means. Those who report more things are treated special in some way for their detective type services. There is nothing that goes on in these convents that the Mother Superior is unaware of.

No noise is allowed in convents whatsoever. The least amount of noise will result in someone being punished. They are usually woken up at 4:30 AM every morning and they go to bed at 9:30 PM. The nuns have their hair shaved off after their vows have been accepted and they will remain bald forever.

These nuns will live and die in that convent, never to see the outside world again. These nuns do absolutely nothing without being told to do it. They become mechanical, lethargic, slaves of Rome, beings with no more soul or spirit.

Another very interesting thing that jumps out about the lives of nuns was the fact that none of them were allowed to have bibles. They only had Catholic prayer books and other paraphernalia to read. Nuns had no idea what the Word of Adonai actually said, yet they were portrayed as holy, loving kind, sweet, compassionate, women who loved Yahveh, and knew His word inside and out. They never knew Him or anything about Him. They knew only the religion, doctrine and dogma of the Roman Harlot they devoted their lives to. They were as secular as the common man, if not worse.

Patron Saints

The nuns are taught that they will never be holy enough to stand before their god, and that they must have a patron saint stand in for them. When the nuns become official representatives of the Roman Catholic system, they have their names taken away from them, and are given the name of a patron saint. They pray to that patron saint and Mary, for everything for the rest of their life.

Penance

In the convents they use flagellation whips for penance. Penance is handed out on a regular basis to keep the nuns totally submitted and weak mentally and physically. By doing so, they do whatever they are told to do without objections for fear of the penance they will receive for objecting. An example of penance is being hung with a rope from a beam by your thumbs on your tip-toes for nine days. Any nun experiencing these atrocities makes sure she never has to experience them a second time. They are told that by doing such penance their families lives in Purgatory will be much better. They are convinced their personal suffering as a bride of their Christ will bring favor to their families and relatives.

Summary

There is no way to sugar coat what goes on in the Whores religion of Roman Catholicism. What happens behind closed doors of the common so-called congregations, dioceses, and the Vatican itself is evil beyond belief. Satan is in control of this religion in every aspect. He controls those in authority from the top down. He controls all levels of supposed servanthood from the priests, nuns, monks, on down to the innocent altar boys. Money, idolatry, and sexual perversity are the spiritual weapons he uses in this religion of witchcraft. It is the basis it was founded on, and it is the basis established for all the fools dumb enough to follow it to this very day. In many ways, it all comes down to laziness. If these foolish participants were not so lazy, and would simply read the bible, they would have no part with the harlot. Their laziness is costing them the demise of their soul and spirit in the Lake Of Fire for eternity. Forever is a long, long time.

Much of the preceding information was provided through, and confirmed through the testimony of Sister Charlotte Wells (Keckler). Sister Charlotte (not her real name), who was a Carmelite nun for twenty two years, managed to sneak out of her convent back in 1963, and publicly gave her testimony. She was murdered two years after giving her testimony by a Jesuit, Eric John Phelps. From Napa, California, she was born Apr. 12/1889 and died Sept. 1983.
