At her loneliest, Roya discovers the consolations of writing while sitting on the rooftop of her house late at night. A wonderfully evocative story, Journey from the Land of No reveals an Iran most readers have not encountered and marks the debut of a stunning new talent. Like Anne Frank, she is a perceptive, idealistic, terribly sympathetic chronicler of the gathering repression. Only a major writing talent like Hakakian can use the pointed words of the mature mind to give the perspective of the child. She tackles ideologies of assimilation and oppression with poetic aplomb and precision. Her moving narrative swings from funny to sad, capturing idyllic scenes of her parents, aunts, and uncles picnicking and interacting with Muslim friends. When you buy a book, we donate a book.
