Rachelle Long

2017 - Present

Rachelle Long is an entrepreneur, small business owner and a proud advocate for marginalized populations in our communities. She received her Associate of Arts and Bachelor of Arts degrees with specialization in leadership from William Penn University. Throughout her professional career, Rachelle has always sought to not only better herself but also to ensure that those around her succeed and grow as well.

In 2011, Rachelle opened her own online bakery, Chellie's Sugar Shack Bakery, LLC. This business allows her to share her love of baking with others throughout Des Moines, Iowa and surrounding communities.

She retired from Century Link in 2012. During her 30 year career in the private sector, she has held several leadership positions within the Employee Diversity Resource groups. Rachelle was the Past National President for the Alliance of Black Telecommunications Professionals (ABTP), Second Vice President of Qwest (now CenturyLink) Women-Iowa Chapter. She is a lifetime member of Communications Worker of America (CWA) Local 7102, where she was CWA Equity, Human & Civil Rights Chair.

In 2013, she founded Taste of the Junction, Inc. and currently serves as the CEO. This nonprofit celebrates and promotes the people, culture, and cuisines of the Historic Valley Junction area in West Des Moines, Iowa. One of the major events is the Annual Multicultural Festival on Labor Day weekend. The wholesome event is free and open to the public.

Since 2015, she has served at The Evelyn K. Davis Center for Working Families as the Community and Business Relations Specialist, Re-entry Co-Coordinator, and Mentoring Program for ex-offenders. She also serves as the Des Moines Area Community College (DMACC) Adjunct Instructor of Life Skills & HiSet at Iowa Correctional Institution for Women and the Polk County Jail, respectively.

She continues her allegiance to labor and her community. She served on the CWA National Minority Caucus Executive Board as District 7 Representative for two consecutive terms. She currently serves in an officer position as the Assistant Secretary. She is also the current Webmaster and manages the Social Media sites.

She holds memberships in the Coalition of Labor Union Women (CLUW), her local NAACP chapter, and the West Des Moines Chamber of Commerce. Rachelle refers to herself as 'semi-retired' however her small business, non-profit and community activism shows that she is always staying busy. She is the doting mother of four adult children and nine grandchildren as well as a long-standing resident of West Des Moines, Iowa.

District Seven Representative

Arthur Clemens Jr.

2017 - Present

I have been a union member and an employee of CenturyLink for the past thirty-two years. I have been active in the union since 2005 and I have held many titles along the way. Those titles include Steward, Area Vice President, Vice President and I am currently the President of CWA Local 7800. I am a 2017 graduate of the Minority Leadership Institute and have been a member of the CWA Minority Caucus since 2015. I am currently the District 7 representative to the CWA Minority Caucus and have been since 2017. I am a proud father, grandfather and husband. I try to live by the motto to always put my family first.

District Nine Representative

Kristy Pham

2017 - Present

My name is Kristy Pham. I am a proud member of the Communications Workers of America Local 9510. I am honored to have the opportunity to represent you as the District 9 Representative of the CWA National Minority Caucus.

I am currently the Secretary Treasurer at CWA Local 9510, a Women's Committee Chairperson and an Area Steward for the Asian Market Group Language Call Center at AT&T. I was formally a shop steward, an Executive Board Member, Mobilization Chairperson and in 2010 graduated Minority Leadership.

Regardless of what position I am holding, I am a devoted union activist. I am passionate about fighting for equity and equality, social justice, fair wages and member's rights at work. I have been involved with the community outreach program, political actions and supporting labor leaders statewide. My mission is to build a strong membership for the CWA National Minority Caucus.

Eugene “Gene” Mays – CWA Pioneer

The story of Gene Mays, the first African-American CWA officer, vividly illustrates the connection between the struggles for civil rights and workers rights. Mays was a coal miner in West Virginia until 1943. After a stint in the Army, he migrated to Buffalo, New York, where he was introduced to the union while working at a Western Electric Wire and Cable plant. He soon joined CWA Local 1162, which together with three other locals, 1192, 1152 and 1170, formed the foundation of CWA in Western New York in the 40's and 50's.

Rising quickly in the union, Mays was elected Local 1162 President in the late 40's and appointed CWA International Staff Rep in 1951. As a leader, he immediately faced major challenges. These were the McCarthy years and unions were not spared from being smeared with the “communist” brush. Shortly after Mays’ election as local president, the company tried to decertify the union, making insinuations about the CWA’s affiliation with the CIO and Mays’ African-American heritage.

Under Mays’ leadership, CWA won the battle against decertification in what amounted to a strike for recognition. CWA was certified for Western Electric workers and CWA’s combined membership in Western New York grew to 2,000 members. Over the next 10 years, CWA’s influence increased as telephone workers were organized, with Mays playing a major role in supervising the efforts in upstate New York. He continued his active involvement when he was appointed Assistant to the Vice President of District One, by Morton Bahr, in 1969. He was still the only black on the staff.

At District One, Mays served as CWA’s defense fund agent during the longest strike in the union’s history, against New York Tel from July 1971 to February 28, 1972. As defense fund agent, Gene made the decisions of “who got how much and when” says Morton Bahr, retired CWA National President. “He knew he had to make every dollar go to keep that strike going and really take care of the needs. And I know that it took such a tremendous toll out of him. He was never the same after that.” Gene Mays died unexpectedly in 1973.

The Walter D. Andrews (WDA) Award

The Walter D. Andrews (WDA) Award is given to any CWA Minority Caucus member that has demonstrated by their involvement the commitment to the areas of Organized Labor and the Community. Individuals can be nominated by writing a brief essay about the person and what they have done in the areas of Labor and Community in their careers.

The essay should be no less than 500 words.

All properly received nominations then will be reviewed at that year's conference by the WDA award committee. The name of the award winner will be announced at the Awards breakfast or Luncheon of the conference.

CWA Minority Caucus

The CWA Minority Caucus was started in the early 1970's. Originally, it was the Black Caucus. The primary reason the Caucus was formed at the time was to address the needs of the Black Members within CWA.

A growing concern for similar problems within female Hispanics and other minority groups within CWA in 1980, brought about a name change and the broadening challenge to make the newly established Minority Caucus meet the needs of all of its members.

Mission Statement

It is our mission as the CWA Minority Caucus:

- To obtain either by election or appointment, minorities to positions at all levels of CWA.
- To grow in membership throughout the local level.
- To continue the improvement of a well informed network throughout CWA.
- To develop a forum for all minorities to have a united voice in our union, nation and lives.

Our Accomplishments

- Responsible for the Appointment of four Diversity Representatives to the National Executive Board.
- Responsible for the Equity Committee reporting out at the National Level.
- Responsible for the Women's Committee reporting out at the National Level.
- National and District Minority Conferences.
- Various appointments of minorities to convention committees and staff positions.
- A substantial increase in the number of minority Local Officers and Delegates to the Convention.
- Quarterly Newsletter
- CWA Minority Caucus National Conferences.
- Minority Caucus Website
- Minority Caucus Directory
- Minority Caucus Scholarship
- Eugene Mays Award
- Walter D. Andrews Award
- Inclusion of all minorities
