

Helping Defend the Fatherless

We Go the Extra Mile, One Mom at a time

Bio: Naomi has an extended background in Early Childhood Education. She found her passion for teaching while in school at Nottingham High School, in which she then began a teaching interim at the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Elementary School in Syracuse, NY. Naomi later became an Entrepreneur within the Early Childhood Education field and held a contract with the New York State Children & Family Services as an independent contractor. She retired from the corporate teaching setting at the age of 27 when reaching her teaching entrepreneurial business goal. After retirement Naomi wanted to join the Great Commission to help teach the Gospel to the world, while helping single mothers like herself.
