

Final International conference in Poland – September 2017

Poland, Łódź

UK-Butterflies LTD took a part in International Conference in Poland organised by the leader of the project Eduexpert from Poland, partner UK-Butterflies from United Kingdom and partner from Slovakia, Catholic University. The conference took a place in Poland, in Łódź

Professionals search for modern and interesting resources for young people from this area delivered by professionals from different background as well.

Teenagers need knowledge that will prepare them to develop awareness of multiculturalism in the face of changes occurring in the contemporary world, which will help young people in the development of life skills in a multicultural society, assimilation and overcoming the barriers of prejudice.

A social and civic competences are an important element of European cooperation in the field of education. They are a part of the eight key competences of citizens living in a knowledge-based society, which in 2006 was described by the European Council and the European Parliament.

The main target of the strategic partnership was to develop a universal multilingual tools and materials, which directly contribute to increasing the level of awareness of school children in the area of multiculturalism and national identity which is ready to share with people.

You will find the project results at www.multiculturalism.eu