

Pray on the Way: A Covenant with God

Written by Jennifer Reed

The United States is faltering.
The United States has lost her way.
The United States has rebelled against God and His laws.
Hatred is dividing our nation.
Hatred is destroying cities – homes, businesses, lives.
The United States has one hope – turn to God and the principles of His Word.

I have trusted Christ as my Savior.
I believe He can change our nation.
I will pray faithfully for a return to God and the principles of His Word.
I will humble myself. (II Chronicles 7:14)
I will pray.
I will seek the face of God.
I will turn from my wicked ways.
I will trust God to hear from Heaven.
I will trust God to forgive our sin.
I will trust God to heal our land.

I covenant with God to pray on the way.
I will seek the Holy Spirit's guidance in my prayers and in my life.
I will pray for myself that I do not regard iniquity in my heart so my prayers are not hindered.
I will pray for the salvation of family, friends, neighbors and enemies for the glory of God.
I will pray for pastors and missionaries who teach and preach the Word of God to have the power of the Holy Spirit in their lives and on their ministries.
I will pray that each born again Christian will receive God's Word with gladness.
I will pray that born again Christians will live as God commands.
I will pray that all Christians will exhibit the love of Christ that all men may be drawn to God and give Him the glory.
I will pray for God to protect, preserve, prosper, and provide for all who stand for His truths.
I will pray that those who stand closest to the principles of the Word of God will be placed in governmental positions.
I will pray for the salvation of our elected officials.
I will pray for the President, Vice President and others in top government positions.
I will commit our nation to God.
I believe that God's intervention is the only means of salvation for the United States of America.
I will pray on the way for the salvation of our nation.
