The Everyday Wonder of Relationship You and I Are We

No man is an island, entire of itself;
every man is a piece of the continent,
a part of the main.

The Everyday Wonder of Relationship

There is only God. The way we relate to ourselves, one another, the world, and with The Universal Power are all interconnected and inseparable. We cannot claim to love God while hating ourselves. We cannot declare that it is a Just and Equitable Universe while treating others (people, animals, the Earth) unjustly and inequitably.

This month is the invitation to anchor in the Spiritual Practice of Engaged Relationships and actively revel in the wonder of how each relationship is ultimately a relationship of Spirit with ItSelf.

You and I are We Reverend Joe Kovach

Let us focus on the relationship we have with our friends, family, and community. This includes those we know personally as well as those we refer to as "strangers." How we relate to each "stranger" we encounter through a nod, a wave, our eye contact, is an opportunity to make connections, to build community. Even when we may never see them again, by our paths crossing, our lives and theirs have been changed and how we approach these encounters reveals more about us than it does them.

If you have questions for Rev. Joe, please email stgeorgecsl@gmail.com.
