

JULY 11 - A DAY TO HONOR WOMEN OF THE WORLD

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF DRACUL

A PROCLAMATION

Throughout the history of the world, women have gone through struggles, initially being viewed as less than human for a large portion of history. Through the Women's Suffragette movement, fighting for voting rights, the ability to serve in the workplace, and most recently with the controversial Roe. V. Wade decision, women have endured many struggles that man has not.

The history of women shows us that women can be just as determined to fight for the end goals of their missions. Whether it'd be Amelia Earhart, Betsy Ross, Rosa Parks, or Margaret Thatcher, these women are models for the women of the world to fight for what they believe in, no matter the struggle.

Women endure many hardships as a woman, including childbirth, sexual assaults and harassment, discrimination in the workplace, and many other challenges. For the women who fight everyday to keep either their families together, or for others who fight for their country, they are to be honored and respected for their sacrifices they make.

I'd like to take this moment to announce July 11th of each year as Women's Day in the Commonwealth of Dracul. This observation will bring our community together, especially the women within it. The women who have gone out of their way to faithfully serve and represent Dracul certainly deserve recognition, which this holiday will do each year.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, STEPHEN LUKE, President of the Commonwealth of Dracul, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution of Dracul, do hereby proclaim July 11th of each year, as the day that Women's Day is observed.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this 30th day of June, in the year of our Lord two thousand twenty-two, and of the Independence of Dracul, the fourth.

Stephen Luke
