Timeless Wisdom ... EVOLUTIONARY VISION

January 2021

Timeless Wisdom
Evolutionary
Vision

As we gain the broader viewpoint, we shall see that Life must contain two fundamental characteristics. We shall see that there is an Infinite Spirit, operating through an Infinite and Immutable Law.

January Message

Today IS the first day of the rest of our Life!

Our Practitioners

I hope this finds you in the wake of joyful and connecting celebrations for your personal faith traditions. No matter how they manifest, they are full to the brim with the Light and Love that expresses Itself in each of us. May this year of 2021 reflect healing, perspective and growth as we transition to the new days that lie ahead.

I imagine we are all curious about how "normal" will now look and feel within the hybrid potential we have created as a world, as a community, and as individuals. Transformation is not an easy process, yet I encourage us to remember and know that the butterfly never regrets its arduous transformation from caterpillar. After all... it can now soar and glide!!

As the world transformed over recent months, so too has Center for Spiritual Living St George. Many hands and hearts made lighter the work of temporarily closing our physical sanctuary. And now those hands and hearts continue to be Guided in the ongoing transformation of how we shall glide and soar in the world and the ethers.

You can see that we continue to expand and enrich our guest speaker line-up on Sundays. We are motivated to keep you informed of opportunities provided by the leadership of the grand offices of Centers for Spiritual Living. We are working on reimagining how we can offer meaningful learning opportunities in the principles of Science of Mind and practical ways to broaden our perspectives and enrich our personal lives and relationships with the God-of-our-knowing.

Please stay tuned right here for all the exciting news as it unfolds. Let us know how we can help you - from prayer and emotional support to assisting you to get on Zoom for our gatherings. We truly are anxious to connect and share our tools and expertise. And our Love.

We strive to continue to be a place where you are spiritually fed in a deep and meaningful way. Bless us all as we walk into our new personal and collective future. That future's foundation is

The fundamental principles of Science of Mind are ageless and cross many spiritual traditions. We have the opportunity to continue evolving and expanding our vision, continually growing into something newer and bigger, instead of stagnating.

Reverend Elisha Christopher

We remember the foundational principles upon which our faith is built. We honor all of the many traditions which Science of Mind has used as springboards, and delve into the deep truth behind all of these teachings: all is one, and always has been.

Looking Ahead
Reverend Hannah Rothlin

Having taken stock, we're ready to plan our journey and look to where it is that we want to go. What possibilities lie beyond the horizon? Where are the growing edges in ourselves, our communities, and our movement? We set our

Looking Above
Eugene Holden RScP

We never forget that behind (and above!) it all is God. As we advance through our year and continue allowing the evolutionary impulse of Spirit to work through us and our communities, we do so remembering and committing to upward journey of Divine Unfoldment.

CSL Sacred Circle Series Continues for Black, Indigenous and People of Color Practitioners and Members

Registration is now open for Practitioners and Members Sacred Circles
Starting in January 2021

We are hosting a three-part Sacred Circle series for the opportunity to connect with others from Centers for Spiritual Living Member communities to continue the conversation for greater awareness around racial disparity and transformation. The first series for Black, Indigenous and People of Color Ministers is in progress and concludes on December 18, 2020. The sessions for Practitioners and Members will start in January, 2021, which is highlighted in this announcement.

This is a prime moment for healing to be revealed in the Black, Indigenous and People of Color communities. There have been ongoing oppressions and marginalization of these communities historically up to current times. The varieties of trauma that result from these experiences often are retained in the physical, emotional and psychological bodies of people in Black, Indigenous and People of Color communities.

The next two parts of the Sacred Circle series starts in January for Black, Indigenous, and People of Color: A Circle for Practitioners (who are not ministers), and one for Members. Details are outlined below. We will explore the somatic responses that are held from the traumas of our historical and current day societal experiences using the same curriculum. As these groups sit in sacred circle together in support and discussion, the guiding resource will be My Grandmother's Hands: Racialized Trauma and the Pathway to Mending Our Hearts and Bodies, by Resmaa Menakem (Central Recovery Press, 2017). Each group will explore together the concepts in the book, their lived experiences, as well as engage some of the suggested exercises individually and collectively.

Here are the desired outcomes of this Sacred Circle Series:

- Create a safe space for honest reflection and awareness of racialized trauma in our lives and in our bodies
- Incorporate spiritual practice with body practices from the book for healing to be revealed
- Regardless of knowledge and awareness levels, come together in community for individual and collective healing and support

It is our full intention that this program will create a confidential space to be honest without shame or judgment for opportunities to learn and grow together. These sessions will not be recorded. Please purchase the primary book as soon as possible. There is also other suggested material that is optional as shown below.

Black, Indigenous and People of Color Circle Facilitators:

Rev. Dr. Sunshine Michelle Coleman is the lead for both the Practitioner and Member Sacred Circles. She is a seasoned facilitator and convener of sacred space, an ordained CSL minister, and founding community leader of Authenticity Journey of Renewal Focus Ministry. She recently completed her doctorate on the exploration of authentic self-expression within Black and Brown women in the United States.

Rosana Martinez, RScP will co-facilitate the Practitioners Sacred Circle. She has been a licensed practitioner and student of Science of Mind at East Bay Church of Religious Science – CSL in Oakland, California since 2007. She is an advocate of mental health rights and is retired from the mental and public health sector. Rosana lives and moves in the world treating others and the Earth from a place of honor and respect, and working for the benefit of all humankind.

Ayodele (Ayo) McClenney, RScP will co-facilitate the Members Sacred Circle. She is a seasoned coach, small group facilitator, and licensed Practitioner at Oneness Columbia Center for Spiritual Living in Maryland. Ayo has designed and delivered workshops in her spiritual community, as well as coursework guiding individuals and organizations to achieve high impact goals.

Black, Indigenous and People of Color Practitioners and Members Circles:

Member Registration

As a charitably-minded owner of a traditional IRA, you might consider using two tax-smart tips to help you maximize your charitable impact.

- The first tip is to use IRA income rather than cash to make charitable gifts, as this giving approach may enhance your tax savings while increasing your charitable impact. Just instruct your IRA manager to send a monthly check to your charity from your IRA account and deduct that amount from your annual taxes. Consider how much of your RMD is to be decreased by the charitable donations.
- The second tip is to name a 501(c)(3) public charity—such as a donor-advised fund—as your IRA beneficiary, which may allow you to fund your charitable legacy goals in an efficient way while saving your heirs and estate on taxes.

Sacred Covenant

There is only One Life. That Life is God's Life. That Life is Perfect. That Life is my life now.

In knowing that I am one with this Life, I know that I am one with all of Its blessed expressions which include the presence of a new minister for my beloved spiritual community.

Because I know that the Highest Purpose of my new minister is to express God, I therefore know that my new minister reveals Wholeness. I further know that my new minister is the fulfillment of that which we believe, for it is written:

Let us learn to draw the Divine Substance down into our own lives and, as freely as It has been given to us, let us give It to others. Thus alone shall we be made Whole. (Ernest Holmes)

As I stand in agreement with my beloved community, I see my new minister revealed before me as growing the Center in Joy and Prosperity.

I now intend to experience my new minister in full cooperation and agreement with my Community, knowing the Truth about myself, for...

- I live the Presence and Law of God.
- I demonstrate Wisdom through a mature understanding of the Wholeness of Life.
- I am accountable and willing to take full responsibility for my actions.
- I participate in and support the nurturance and guidance of the community.
- I act from Wholeness and congruence in thought, word and action; I “walk the talk”.
- I embrace.... [express your personal Truth here].

I now accept the highest expression of a new minister into my life, knowing that they are revealed in a way that expresses God and serves the highest and greatest good for all who are touched by their presence.

I am grateful!
And so it is. Amen.
