STIGMA ESTIGMA

By: Carolina Morales, LPC

With North Texas Giving Day coming up, Dream Big wants to remind you why we work so hard to collect funds and serve our community. We are passionate about mental health, and one of the main reasons for creating this nonprofit is to reduce the stigma behind mental health. Do we really understand what that means and how that continues to affect our communities? Mental health stigma refers to the disapproval of seeking help or shaming those who struggle with mental health problems.

Stigma can be seen in the following ways:

- Lack of resources – making it difficult for some populations to get access to these services
- Lack of funds to provide resources
- Jobs not prioritizing mental health – not providing/allowing the time for their employees to work on their mental health stressors, making it challenging to take a day off
- Indirect messages that cause shame or bring disapproval “just get over it,” “you have everything you need, how can you be depressed?”
- Lack of education on mental health

These are just a few examples; however, ask yourselves: “What is stopping me from working on my mental health?” We must reflect on our answers and become aware of stigmatized statements or mentalities. Although there has been a productive and positive movement towards changing our mentality about mental health, there is still much work to be done! We encourage you to participate in this year’s North TX Giving Day and help Dream Big reach its mission. In addition, we hope to inspire you to come along this journey and find your passion!

STIGMA ESTIGMA

By: Carolina Morales, LPC

Se acerca North Texas Giving Day y Dream Big quiere recordarles por qué trabajamos tan duro para recaudar fondos y servir a nuestra comunidad. Nos apasiona la salud mental y una de las principales razones para crear esta organización sin fines de lucro es para reducir el estigma detrás de la salud mental. ¿Realmente entendemos lo que eso significa y cómo sigue afectando a nuestras comunidades? El estigma de la salud mental se refiere a la desaprobación de buscar ayuda o avergonzar a quienes luchan con problemas de salud mental.

El estigma se puede ver de las siguientes maneras:

- Falta de recursos – lo que dificulta que algunas poblaciones tengan acceso a estos servicios
- Falta de fondos para proporcionar recursos
- Trabajos que no dan prioridad a la salud mental – no proporcionan/permiten tiempo para que sus empleados trabajen en sus factores estresantes de salud mental, lo que dificulta tomarse un día libre
- Mensajes indirectos que causan vergüenza o desaprobación “solo supéralo”, “tienes todo lo que necesitas, ¿cómo puedes estar deprimido?”
- Falta de educación en salud mental

Estos son solo algunos ejemplos, sin embargo, pregúntense: “¿Qué me impide trabajar en mi salud mental?” Es importante que reflexionemos sobre nuestra respuesta y tomemos conciencia de pensamientos o mentalidades estigmatizadas. Aunque ha habido un movimiento productivo y positivo para cambiar nuestra mentalidad sobre la salud mental, ¡todavía queda mucho trabajo por hacer! Los animamos a participar en el North Texas Giving Day este año y ayudar a Dream Big a alcanzar su misión. Además, ¡esperamos inspirarlos a comenzar este proceso y encontrar su propia pasión!
