Anderleigh People

Anderleigh Quarry is about promoting and creating value in Indigenous communities and providing resource solutions in the Mining & Civil Construction sectors.

As an Indigenous company, Anderleigh Quarry is well placed to provide Indigenous communities with opportunities to build capacity for economic participation through sustainable job creation, enterprise and skills development. We are committed to assisting Indigenous participation and skills enhancement through investment in education, on the job practical training and personal development through continuous mentoring.

The Company

The "Anderleigh" property has been privately owned since 1974 and consists of over 50 hectares of Freehold, incumbent land. Located at 270 Sorensons Roads, Gunalda just 35 kilometres north of Gympie, the property operates with an extensive Mining Lease and Development Approvals for Extraction and Screening of up to one million tonnes per annum. A mining operation (for Sandstone, Hard Rock and other by-products) and an extractive industry body (quarry Products) leading with a team of qualified trainers, operators and project managers. The quarry managers down to earth approach, leading from the front with experience both as an all-round operator and Inspector of Mines providing practical insight into obtaining solution focussed outcomes, bringing together a diverse suite of skills and knowledge that meets mining and legislative requirements Australia wide.

In 2010 Indigenous Business Australia (IBA) and Anderleigh Quarry Pty Ltd (AQPL) initiated a joint venture agreement and formed Anderleigh Enterprises Pty Ltd (AEPL) to commercially operate the quarry. IBA is a progressive, commercially focused organisation that promotes and encourages self-management, self-sufficiency and economic independence for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. IBA is a significant contributor to the goals of the Australian Government's Indigenous Economic Development Strategy, aimed at closing the gap between the living standards of Indigenous and other Australians.

AQPL is an Indigenous company with a strong focus on providing economic participation and training that will enhance the future development of Indigenous Australians. Anderleigh Quarry appreciates and accepts the importance of Indigenous Australian culture, respecting and valuing its diversity. We are a registered supplier with Supply Nation's Business Directory and can be utilised by large clients and government agencies in meeting their Indigenous procurement targets under the commonwealth's recently released Indigenous Procurement Policy.

Anderleigh Enterprises is committed to assisting Indigenous participation and skills enhancement through investment in education, on the job practical training and personal development through continuous mentoring.

Α hands-on line management executive with over 25 years' experience, David provides exceptional planning and leadership skills, evident in his roles as Training Coordinator for several top tier mining firms.

In these roles he coordinated all competency based training and was responsible for mentoring and supporting Indigenous employees. Dave was at the forefront of VTEC's delivery to remote areas of the Pilbara in Western Australia. He delivered the package in collaboration with Fortesque Metals Group and Thiess achieving an 85% retention rate of Indigenous employees. He introduced the VTEC Model of Training Principles to NRW where he a achieved over 60% local Indigenous employment.

He is recognised as a strong enabler for enhancing Indigenous training and employment outcomes, the establishment of active community partnerships with elders, communities, government and peak bodies as well as business and industry.

A proud Wulli Wulli man from the Blackall, Charleville and Augathella areas of Queensland David was independently recognised by Institute of Quarrying Australia as a Certified Practicing Quarry Manager in 2012.
