EHFN Update

EHFN are working on a number of events and project opportunities for members to engage with. We look forward to sharing the developments with you over the forthcoming weeks as the lambing and calving season starts to ease. It is our intention to update our waiting list of candidates who are awaiting a number of training courses. Please bear with us particularly around the trailer training and tests. We have received a number of enquires for spraying courses and we hope to run from mid-May onwards, do contact us if this is of interest. For now, the Network Officer continues to work remotely in line with government guidelines and we will be resuming training when safe to do so.

EHFN involved in a national project to demonstrate improved methods for controlling sheep scab, working with The National Sheep Association (NSA) .

NSA and EHFN has welcomed the launch of a new initiative exploring a structured approach to controlling sheep scab – and looks forward to delivering the work on Exmoor and in the Greater Exmoor Area. NSA and EHFN are just two of a number of partners involved in the two-year initiative, funded by Defra via the Rural Development Programme for England and led by Moredun. It is fully supportive of the concept of using on-farm advice, training and testing to drive a coordinated approach to controlling sheep scab in the three focus areas in England selected for the project – North West, Midlands and South West. With a strong regional presence, NSA has identified Exmoor as an area suitable and will work with EHFN to deliver the project aims. Working with people already on the ground, will bring together sheep farmers, their vets, and advisors into appropriate clusters. Given its role throughout the UK, NSA is also ideally placed to extrapolate learnings from the projects to elsewhere in the region and throughout England, as well as linking with and comparing to existing initiatives in the devolved UK nations. Phil Stocker, NSA Chief Executive, says: “Sheep scab continues to be a health and economic problem with significant costs to the UK sheep industry. Many outbreaks are ‘imposed’ on farmers through actions outside their control which is why co-ordinated control programmes need to be implemented. By integrating blood-testing, sound advice and good training, there is a strong chance to show how we could bring this debilitating disease under control. “The number of farmers to be recruited to this project means it a far step from a national eradication programme – but the partnership approach and strong execution means it has the potential to be the benchmark and launch pad for future, larger initiatives. That is why NSA was so keen to be involved. It is an exciting community-led approach involving a team of experts who will work collaboratively with farmers to drive and demonstrate real change - hopefully leading to even greater things in the future.” Farmers wishing to find out more and how to get involved in the project should contact Katherine Williams, in strictest confidence katherine@ehfn.org.uk 07970 795808. We will be holding a series of zoom open meetings for farmers to attend in May. This project is led by Moredun Research Institute and supported through the Rural Development Programme for England, which is jointly funded by Defra and the European Union.

Biodiversity Net Gain and Carbon offsetting – Thursday 13th May, 7.30pm via zoom

Biodiversity Net Gain is a Government policy and an approach to development that seeks to leave the natural environment in a better state. It requires a measurable improvement in the quality and condition of habitats following development and some of this improvement may be achieved through habitat creation and enhancement on rural land in the form of biodiversity credits. This information session will provide a broad introduction to Biodiversity Net Gain and how it might be relevant to your farm. Supported by case studies, the event will set out how Biodiversity Net Gain might provide future income opportunities but also the current uncertainties around this relatively new policy and market. The interaction with other payment mechanisms such as carbon offsetting will also be discussed. Everyone is welcome to attend whether you lie in or out of the catchment area.

Exmoor's Ambition Tests and Trials 2019-20

Developing our proposals for sustaining & enhancing Exmoor's rural landscapes and communities

Follow up meeting Wednesday 26th May, 7pm via zoom.

Now the project has been completed and the final report submitted to Defra earlier this spring. We would like to invite you to a follow up meeting to discuss the findings of the project, and hear directly from participants involved and next steps. The summary document is in progress and due for release next month prior to this meeting. The project team from Exmoor National Park Authority, Rural Focus Ltd, Savills and FWAG will be in attendance. Please save the date for now.

Please register your interests nearer the time and further marketing reminders will be circulated, the zoom links will be sent on the morning of the meeting date.
