Ask Everyone!

“Teach all nations!” the Apostles were told.

Now as well as that, we’re to Listen to All Nations - consultation in connection with the Synod.

Archbishop Farrell’s talk on the Synod is available on dublindiocese.ie, and over the next week or so he’s hosting a series of Zoom meetings with clergy and others in the various areas of the diocese.

The Synod was launched a few weeks ago, but a lot of us are still catching up: I’m looking forward to the Zoom information meeting in early November.

In his homily of the 3rd June 2021 the Archbishop reminded us of the context we find ourselves in as we are invited to embark upon a synodal pathway. This context is one of an ever-changing Church in an ever-changing world.

“The Church centred around the monasteries of early medieval Ireland was replaced by the diocesan Church. When one studies the history of the Church in Ireland, there are five discernible historical phases:

- The Gaelic and Monastic Church
- The Anglo-Norman Church
- The Reformation and Penal Church
- The Post-Emancipation Church. and now
- The Church in Contemporary Ireland
