

Adrian Sloan - As a native of New Jersey, where the motto is Liberty and Prosperity, Sloan's reputation mirrors just that of his home state. Beginning his professional career with a Fortune 500 Company he quickly became one of the youngest district managers on the East Coast.

Sloan later decided to venture into the financial services sector, specifically insurance and investment securities, Adrian broke records becoming one of North Carolina's record holders for fastest six-figure earners with his first financial service firm, including being recognized as a top personal producer five years in a row. His record-breaking achievements in the insurance and securities industry earned him the moniker Adrian "Dynamite" Sloan among his peers.

His strong desire and determination for success aligned with his entrepreneurial spirit, has aided Adrian in his ownership in numerous companies that generate a minimum of six figures in revenue annually. Aside from his ownership in these companies, he also serves as the CFO and co-founder of XtreamFX Global Academy and the CFO of Chick- For-Real and has even managed to have the time to become a published author of his well-known book "10 Dynamite Principles of Success", a corporate strategy program, teaching the essential principles of developing a seven-figure organization.

In addition to his personal triumphs and empowerment programs, Sloan has established a youth mentorship program called "A-Game", where he encourages young students, athletes, and entrepreneurs to develop a positive mindset for success.

As a practitioner of his own philosophy, Adrian Sloan takes pride in building successful brands and mentalities with winning behavior with his mission to help people hone in on their talents and become captains of their own destiny providing a way for Liberty and Prosperity to all.