Facial Massages – 60 Minutes

Eastern therapies facial massage is a treatment in which pressure points on the face and neck are stimulated in order to release blockages in the flow of qi, or vital energy. Lotions or oils are not used on the face in acupressure techniques of facial massage.

Western therapies, facial massage uses light therapy combined with topical skincare products to create a radiant glow. Look younger, healthier, and more refreshed without the pain of injections or the recovery time of a chemical peel.

During a facial massage, we will use upward, gentle, yet stimulating strokes. Facial massage is often considered an anti-aging treatment as it can help keep the skin looking young, smooth, and firm. The treatment includes a cleanse,

Facial Cupping

The ancient practice of cupping uses suction cups directly on the skin. The suction promotes increased blood circulation, which may help relieve muscle tension, promote cell repair, and aid in other regeneration. When it comes to the face and jawline, the practice helps with sinus congestion and headaches while restoring fresh-skin tissues, stimulating your skin and muscles.
