10th anniversary ride through rural South Australia for country cancer patients

By a stroke of good luck I found these people having a short refreshment break at Stockyard Reserve and was fascinated by their endeavours. I also chatted to one of the volunteers, Richard Wilson of Echunga, (photo below) who, it transpired, used to spend summer holidays at Denis and Karen Wundke's farm at Condowie!

The following information was provided by the Supercycle publicity officer.

On Saturday 20 March, 34 cyclists began a 1,000km journey through rural South Australia, raising funds for country cancer patients travelling to Adelaide for treatment.

On this 10th anniversary ride and final Mercer SuperCycle, the aim was simple: four homes and $2.8 million raised to support people with cancer. The cyclists began their journey through Clare, and cycled to Wallaroo and Barossa Valley, then past Taillem Bend, McLaren Vale and back to Adelaide. Since inception in 2011, SuperCycle has raised over $2.6 million to provide regional cancer patients a home away from home when in Adelaide receiving treatment through The Hospital Research Foundation Group's Under Our Roof project.

Under Our Roof provides a place of comfort for cancer patients to stay with their families while going through treatment. Thanks to the efforts over 10 years, there are two homes in Woodville West and two new family-style apartments at 354 Bowden On The Park East will be available thanks to this final ride. Chair of Mercer SuperCycle, Jim Jeffery has been swapping his SA Police uniform for lycra since inception, and will, for a final time, complete the tough ride for cancer patients.

"I feel incredibly privileged each year to participate in Mercer SuperCycle. I will be thinking about the 60+ patients and their families who we've helped Australia-wide since the first two homes," Jim said. "This final seven-day journey is a great opportunity to raise funds to ensure we can help even more people and their families. It's also a great way to support the rural towns of South Australia who've been hit hard by the COVID-19 pandemic."

Paul Flynn, Chief Executive of The Hospital Research Foundation Group said the homes helped ease the burden for cancer patients and provide stability for families during difficult times. "Thanks to the dedication from the Mercer SuperCycle riders and support crew, we can now offer two new family-style apartments which will be close to local hospitals and transport for people and their families," Paul said. "Our patients and their families are hugely grateful whenever they stay in our homes for the large spaces and sense of comfort, which really gives them the support they need to heal and manage their cancer treatment."

Riders converge on Stockyard Reserve. Maintenance vehicle is present for any running repairs that might be needed.

How do you want to be represented by Council?

Wakefield Regional Council is reviewing the composition and structure of the Council area as part of the process that ensures electors are fairly represented.

The Representation Review gives all interested people the chance to have a say on how they want the Council structured, the number of Council Members and options for electing a Mayor.

Council has just released an Electoral Representation Options Paper that outlines a range of relevant information, including the advantages and disadvantages of the options available.

The options paper includes information about the review process, elector distribution and ratios, comparisons with other councils and demographic trends which may impact future elector numbers, as well as alternative ward structure options.

Interested people are invited to tell us what they want to see:

Should we change the number of councillors?

Should we realign or change the number of wards – or remove them altogether?

Should we be led by a Mayor or Chairperson?

The overall aim is to benefit the community and ensure fair and equitable representation across Council.

Consultation closes 5pm on Friday 23 April 2021.

For more information, to read the Electoral Representation Options Paper and to have a say online visit www.wrc.sa.gov.au.

The Options Paper includes details of further consultation and other ways to have a say

CASTING OFF – Brinkworth Hall March 15th

Good Catch Circus and Cluster Arts Country Arts S.A.

On March 15th the Brinkworth Soldiers' Memorial Hall hosted the entertaining production of 'Casting Off' by the talented women of Good Catch Circus. Over 90 people attended. After a year of covid inspired inactivity it was fantastic to see the hall being used again to bring the arts to the people of our district.

The production was out of the ordinary, providing a combination of dramatic monologues and circus high-jinks to provide a multi-media hour of inspired entertainment focusing on women's extraordinary everyday experiences. Defying gravity and traditional concepts of strength and balance, the three women of Good Catch Circus kept us laughing while we perched on the edge of our seats. Judging by the smiles and comments of people as they departed after the show, they well deserved their various 'Fringe' awards.

The Hall Committee would like to especially thank the cast and crew of Casting Off, Country Arts S.A., the staff of the Junction Hotel and a couple anonymous donors for helping us put this show on. We hope to do it again! -Mark Kernich

Propagating from seeds and cuttings

At the recent APS meeting a couple of our very experienced members were happy to share some tips and tricks on propagating Australian native plants.

Coral Dutschke (below) talked about Acacias including collecting the seed, preparing the seed and soil and planting the seed.

She indicated that you need to keep an eye on the Acacia plants that you wish to collect from, as the pods can be green one day, and if there is a hot north wind, they can easily turn brown and open, shedding their seeds on the ground. Putting a paper bag over the pods is the answer to collecting these successfully.

Coral scratches the seed with a sharp knife or the use of sandpaper before placing in between layers of kitchen paper and keeping wet until they shoot, when the tiny plants can be removed with tweezers and popped into soil, covered with a fine gravel, kept in a warm place and watered regularly.

Andrew Clucas (right, below) talked about his preparation of soil using a mixture of a good quality potting mix, sand and coconut peat (coir). He advised that seed should be stored in a paper bag, never in plastic bags or containers. He sprinkles the seed on top of the soil and covers with very fine gravel. They need to be kept watered and placed where they receive morning sun and not intense heat. A plastic container over the top to make a coconut peat and Vermiculite. Andrew talked about eucalypts. He collects seeds with the paper bag method so that when the pods open the seeds fall into the paper bag. The pods need to be mature and a mini glass house is ideal. The use of drink bottles with the ends cut out and placed over pots with seeds is another method of keeping the pot warm to encourage the seeds to grow.

Andrew also explained how to take cuttings from plants such as eremophilas by taking small tip pieces a few centimetres long, taking off most of the leaves and making a small hole in the soil mixture, placing in carefully and again putting in a warm place and keeping it moist. A good time for this is in the warmer months but plants must not be in direct sunshine.
