Revelatory Concepts
for Success

Acknowledgements

To Jesus, the Author and Finisher of our faith, without whom this project would be in vain. In due season, you have made sense of all the purging, pruning, and challenges that I so often did not understand and constantly brought into question. I have experienced and continue to live every day captivated by your love, peace, and faithfulness. Thank you for faith, purpose, and life (present and eternal).

Writing this book was tougher than I expected and more rewarding than I could have ever imagined. None of this would have been possible without my awesome wife, Ramona. From reading early drafts to giving me advice on the cover to editing, she was as important to this book getting done as I was. Thank you so much, Dear!

My profound appreciation to Aubrian and Audrianna. As a father and champion for both their successes, I could not be prouder. They have grown so much in becoming the best version of themselves and it amazes me the testimony and work God is preparing for each of them. I pray they keep the faith, exercise the faith, and live the faith.

I'm eternally grateful to my father, Tommy (deceased), who in spirit inspires me every day. I've come to learn so much in life by witnessing his humility, work ethic, and stability. Although it's been four years since his passing, I yet get emotional when thinking of him, but am motivated to honor him daily by being the best me.

To my mother, Leamorica, I am forever indebted to her for her undying love as well as the cherished and most valuable spiritual conversations and support provided in all I do. I truly have no idea where I'd be if she hadn't prepared, inspired, and released me to soar. She and my father have been the two most prominent influences on me becoming who I am and having strength and vision for a better life.

A heartfelt thanks for the love and support provided by my in-law parents, Pleamon and Shirley Campbell. They both exemplify living life to the fullest and do so with adventurous attitudes and strong health. Their lives are a beacon of light to many whom they welcome with open-arms and without boundaries. I am ever delighted to have them in my life for life.

Thank you to my aunt, Classie, there are no words to describe how truly appreciative I am of her. I am daily inspired by her 'faith-on-feet' attitude as she exemplifies the hope of achieving beyond dreams and being prepared for tomorrow by maximizing today's opportunities.

A very special thanks to Chris Marshall, Calvin Williams, Robert Stewart, Johnny Rosario, Robert Sandford, Norman Ng, and Maj Marcellus McKinley, USAF. Each of them has helped me so much by providing mature thought-provoking conversations from various perspectives regarding mental impacts toward success and failures in life that assisted in constructing this book. Chris, Calvin, and Robert, I thank even more for the many priceless and wise principles provided as well as support on other projects – including Calvin providing the title and idea behind Betting on Me. They are all hidden gems containing a wealth of knowledge.

Andrea Petrovanie, Alice Brickhouse, and Jeri Kincade, my dear friends who are standout personifications of live, laugh, love – forever Angels of inspiration capturing and enjoying everyday life to the fullest.

And a huge measure of gratefulness goes out to all my family, friends, and foes who continue being instrumental in forming the best me, as God would have completed by His will.
