It is my pleasure to choose Chesni Flagg for Student of the Week. She comes to class excited to learn and always tries to do her best. Her work is improving every day. Chesni has great manners and never fails to say please and thank you. She is always busy working on something and never seems to waste time in class. Thank you, Chesni, for setting the example. - Mrs. Hird

BELLS & WHISTLES to Nurse Amber for completing our student health screenings! - Mrs. Warmbrodt

Preschool: We are over half way through September! We learned so much about the letter 'A' this past week. We learned about the different sounds it makes and the different things that begin with 'A'. We also made an alligator and painted the letter. This week we will learn about different kinds of apples and the letter "L". I am seeing great progress with our names. Please remember to start each letter at the top and only the first letter should be capitalized. The weather is supposed to be cooler this week, so please make sure your child is dressed appropriately. Don't forget picture day on Thursday! A remind app. with more picture info. will be sent out. Have a great week! -Miss Stacie

Kind: Kindergarten's theme this week is Apples. We will be talking about fiction and nonfiction books. During nightly reading, please ask your child to identify the cover, back cover, title page and spine. You can also talk about the author of the book and if it is fiction or nonfiction. Please continue to point out rhyming words with your student. We will keep working on our previously learned letter sounds, with the addition of /c k/, /e/, and /h/. Students will take home their "the" and "a" flashcards to review nightly. - Mrs. Stewart

1st/2nd: Second grade has Stanford testing this week, so please make sure students are well rested and prepared to do their best. This week in 1st and 2nd grade we are going to be working on b and d reversals, as several students are getting these backwards. We will also be working as a class to discuss what being a good citizen of any community means. First grade will have their second science test on Friday this week over habitats and adaptations and second grade will be retaking their science test on Tuesday and then begin a new science unit this week over different kinds of animals. Mid-term is Friday and I still have several students who haven't taken and passed an AR test. Please remember reading at home will help with this. If you are unsure, if a book has an AR test, please ask. Students need five before October 7.

3rd/4th: This week is another busy week in our class. We started Stanford testing today. Both grades will wrap up chapter 2 in Science and will have a test on Friday. We will also do the same for Social Studies. This test will be on Thursday. Be on the lookout for both study guides coming home. Fourth grade will have a Math test on Thursday as well and 3rd grades' Math test will be on Friday. One of the things I have been noticing is the misspelling of Spelling words throughout the week. Spelling is a vital part of a student's educational career. Please be practicing these nightly. I have also noticed some students capitalizing spelling words when using them. They are only supposed to be capitalized, if it is a proper noun. I have discussed this with my students and will be counting them wrong from here on out. This is another basic skill our students need to know. Please let me know, if you have any questions. - Mrs. Cooper

MUSIC: We begin practicing together this week. Please make sure your child knows the lyrics! - Miss Stacie

CHARACTER ED: RESPECT - to act in a way which shows that you are aware of someone's rights and wishes; to treat or deal with something valuable in a proper way.

7th/8th Grade talked this week about respecting each other's opinions. This world is full of opinions and everyone thinks theirs is the right one. Learning when to stand up for yours is a huge part of growing up. Sometimes it's better to bite your tongue than to argue. It doesn't make you a weaker person nor does it make your opinion less important. It just shows you know how to respect others. - Miss Stacie

School Store information was handed out Friday. This is a safe and easy way for us to raise funds for school use. Students can earn prizes too. School Store is 100% online so there is no face-to-face selling, handling money, or delivering products. To participate, send form emails inviting family, friends and co-workers to support your child. Return the envelope with the Student Prize Code to school for your child to get their fun participation prize. More prizes will be awarded when goals are reached.

BE RESPONSIBLE

Daily duties

- Your child surely sees you taking care of daily tasks – you water houseplants, you get your mail and pay bills, you clear the dinner table and wash dishes, you do laundry, and so much more. Perhaps you care for an older relative. Ask your child about their responsibilities, things that need their care. Homework is, of course, a must-do. Maybe they also keep the dog's water bowl full, take out the trash, keep their room clean. These responsibilities contribute to the world around them. If they don't get completed, things can be thrown out of whack, making it more difficult to have fun and stay

Timeliness

- Teach your child the Five Ps– Prior Planning Prevents Poor Performance. Help them create to-do lists and teach them how to use a weekly planner for homework and fun activities! This will alleviate stress along the way.
