

ALLELUIA!

Stand erect and raise your heads because your redemption is at hand.

The readings for the 33rd Sunday in Ordinary Time Year C make us think about the end of the world. In the first reading we are told that the day of the Lord is coming. The psalm assures us that "The Lord comes to rule the earth with justice." In the second reading Paul asks that we diligently work for the good of all. In the gospel Jesus speaks about the end times and perseverance.

Jesus tells us that the end is coming. And when it does, we will be judged. There are some criteria for this judgement in the gospels. Did I treat others with compassion, especially those who are suffering or on the margins? Did I spread the Good News?

The gospel calls us to give testimony. And this will not be easy, and will bring trials and suffering from worldly powers. In fact, we don't need to wait for the end times to experience this. Even today, being a disciple of Jesus Christ is often met with scorn and ridicule.

It is by the path of love, which is charity, that God draws near to man, and man to God. But where charity is not found, God cannot dwell. If, then, we possess charity, we possess God, for "God is Charity."

He that shall do and teach ; he shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven. Math. V. 19.

November 18 is the memorial of the dedication of two of the oldest and most important basilicas of the Church, the first St. Peter's Basilica and the first St. Paul's Basilica. Both churches were in Rome, one inside the ancient city walls on the Vatican Hill where local Christians believed that the grave of St. Peter was located, the other outside the ancient city walls on the Via Ostia where the relics of St. Paul were buried.

Collections

November 13, 2022

Today's second collection goes to St. Francis Cabrini Catholic School.

Next week's second collection goes to Catholic Campaign for Human Development

We are in need of volunteers to keep the Sacred Heart Mission website current. We have enjoyed doing so the last few years but are in Cloudcroft less frequently so we think it is a good time to hand the website to someone else.
