Stilling Our Minds

Several years ago, I was out on a run along the D&L Trail heading toward Slatington from West Bowmanstown. At the time there were numerous things taking place that were causing a lot of stress within me. Running has always been a time for me to talk with God and work through whatever is going on in my life. On this particular run, however, something deeper took place.

As I ran along at a steady pace, I realized I was reciting Psalm 42:10 over and over in mind – “Be still, and know that I am God! Be still, and know that I am God! Be still, and know that I am God!”

Now I don’t think God was telling me to go home and sit still, although there are times I feel like I want to do that when I’m on a run. I believe God was speaking about “stilling” my mind. I may have been running a slow steady pace, but my mind was going 100 mph, and the tension and stress within body and soul was evident. In the midst of that tension and stress, God was speaking to me and encouraging me to place all my worries and concerns in his hands.

At those times when I feel completely overwhelmed by the stresses of the day, week, month, or season, rather than push harder to accomplish more, that’s exactly when I need to be still and remember I have a God that is bigger than any of the stressors I encounter in life.

I share this with you, because I have found myself stressing – a lot – recently. And if I need to be reminded to “Be still,” perhaps some of you need to be reminded as well. Are there stressors in your life? Things that are causing tension within your mind, body, or soul? If you are feeling the need to push harder and go further, maybe what you really need to do is “Be still.”

The repetitive motion of running helps me to find a quiet place where my mind can stop racing and all I focus on is my breathing and running form. It creates a space where I can talk with God and just listen. What are the practices in your life that allow your mind to stop racing and give you the opportunity to listen to God? I encourage you to engage those practices and give yourself the space you need in the midst of stress and tension.

And please know that if you ever need to talk through those stressors and tensions, it’s OK to express them to someone you trust and feel comfortable with. Those people are some of the greatest gifts God has given us, and are a tangible way to encounter God in our midst.

May the message of the resurrected Christ remind you that you have a God bigger than any issue or struggle you encounter, and may it offer you the opportunity to just “Be still.”

Alleluia! Christ is Risen!

Pr. Tony

Joint Health & Wellness Team

🏠 Location: Dinkey Memorial Lutheran Church
📅 Date: May 17, 2023
🕒 Time: 6:30PM

Our bodies are a gift from God, and taking care of them is one of our callings.

On Wednesday, May 17, 2023 at 6:30PM there will be an initial meeting of the Health & Wellness Team in the Social Room at Dinkey Memorial. The purpose of this meeting is to gather people together from Dinkey Memorial, Ashfield and St. John's, Mahoning who are interested in forming a team to provide opportunities to promote health and wellness within our congregations.

Some items of discussion will be the location and upkeep of First Aid kits within church buildings, maintenance of AEDs, and blood pressure screenings.

Do you have experience in the health field or do you have an interest / passion for your own health and wellness and that of those around you? Please join us for this initial meeting to help set a direction and share ideas to promote caring for these wonderful bodies God has gifted us.

If you have any questions or would like some more information, please contact Pr. Tony at prdinklc@ptd.net / 610-377-4242 / 570-386-9960.

Or do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, which you have from God, and that you are not your own? For you were bought with a price; therefore glorify God in your body.
