December 2021 Edition

Happy Holidays Everyone!

What a year we have had. It has been a wild ride and we aren't off of it yet but we are hanging in there.

We have several field trips coming up to Kice, Keewaydin and of course out on Sarasota Bay on the Carefree Learner. Please see inside this issue for details.

Our holiday party is coming up on December 9 at Bird Key Yacht Club and it promises to be a blast. We have a large group going so far and the deadline is December 1 so get your reservations in to Nancy Cadieux immediately. We do need some more auction items for the live auction at the party so call me at 941.720.3810 if you have items to donate for that.

The annual shell show is coming up in February and we need volunteers to help. If you have never participated in our shell show please sign up to help! There is no better way to introduce yourself, meet others in the club and learn about what we do than helping out at the shell show. It is a lot of fun and the help is invaluable to the club. Please call or email Nancy Cadieux to sign up.

Finally, 2021 is almost over and I hope that we can all take a deep breath relax and plan on a bright, happy and healthy new year.

Love to all and Happy Shelling!
Sally Peppitoni, President

A Note from Lynn . . .

A great big thank you to all the members who picked up shells for the small bags we hand out at the show. With your efforts I was able to fill 1800 bags. More than we need for the show, I think. We also found about 700+ small bags that were left over from previous years. These bags do not have our newest label on them and over the summer we will begin to put labels in them.

A special thank you to Rich and Lou for helping take off old labels and put new ones in the baggies.

As your field trips begin please continue to pick up shells that catch your eye and you don't personally want. Each baggie gets a "wow" shell and we are short of them.

On Safari with Seashells

by Linda Brunner

We often hear the older generation complain about change. Why do you think? I believe it might be because it is easier to remember the familiar than it is to remember change. When you are encouraged to learn the scientific names of shells you often wonder why. The most often repeated reason is that if you know the scientific name of a shell then you can communicate with anyone in the world about a specimen because the “Latin” name is universal in all languages. But, you say, “What if they don’t know the scientific name?”. Well that is another story, however it seems best to give it a try.

Many of us studied another language in high school. For me it was Latin but I really wanted to learn French. French was not offered in my small rural school so it was Latin or nothing. The second language I studied was German in hopes of going to Germany but, no, the Army in all of its wisdom thought my husband was needed in Asia. Off we went! First we landed in Okinawa where Japanese was spoken. No need for Latin or German there except I had fun while a customs officer practiced his German on me and taught me a bit of Tagalog in return. Still, no use for Latin arose until we started to collect seashells while living in the Philippines.

After a while I found that some names were descriptive while others referred to locality and others referenced people. So, basically shells are named to tell us important data about the shell, often this involves people, places or things. Sometimes the Latin translates to the specific. In other cases it does not. For example Cymatium tigrinum (Broderip, 1833) = Tiger Cymatium. Note the tiger-like stripes.

Or Septa rebeculum (Linnaeus, 1758) = Robin Redbreast Triton where the color says it all.

So, for the purpose of this article I thought it might be fun to explore shell names that represent animals in some way. Join me in my jungle.

One of the first I thought of are two zebras, the Zebra Periwinkle (Littorina zebra Donovan, 1835) and Turkey Wing (Arca zebra Swainson, 1833). The latter is from our local waters. And while we are on equines, there is the Horse Conch, Triplofusus giganteus (Kiener, 1840).

Continuing with fowl we also have Chicken Venus (Chamelea gallina (Linnaeus, 1758)) the Rooster-tail Conch (Aliger galus, Linnaeus, 1758), the Common Pelican's Foot (Aporrhais pespelecani (Linnaeus, 1758) and the Pacific Partridge Tun (Tonna perdix (Linnaeus, 1758)).

Let's take a look at felines, the cat world. We have the Leopard Cone (Conus leopardus (Röding, 1798)), Cat Cone (Conus catus Hwass in Bruguière, 1792), Panther Cowrie (Cypraea pantherina [Lightfoot], 1786), Tiger Cowrie (Cypraea tigris Linnaeus, 1758), our own Lions's Paw (Nodipecten fragosus (Conrad, 1849)) and Kitten's Paw (Plicatula gibbosa Lamarck, 1801), Tiger Scallop (Semipallium tigris (Lamarck, 1819)), and Cat's Paw Scallop (Manupecten pesfilis (Linnaeus, 1758) to name a few.

Next we have a few insects. There is the Fly-speck Cone (Conus stercismuscarum Linnaeus, 1758) the Flea-bite Cone (Conus pulicarius Hwass, 1792), Common Spider Conch (Lambis lambis (Linnaeus, 1758)), Butterfly Cone (Conus pulcher Lightfoot, 1786), and the Fly Marginella (Austroginella muscaria Lamarck, 1822).

And, the list goes on. There is a Serpent's-head Cowrie (Cypraea caputserpentis Linnaeus, 1758, a Turtle Cowrie (Cypraea testudinaria Linnaeus, 1758), for rodents the Mole Cowry (Cypraea talpa Linnaeus, 1758) Mouse Cowry (Cypraea mus Linnaeus, 1758), Rat Cowrie (Cypraea stercoraria Linnaeus, 1758), more four legged animals as the Atlantic Deer Cowrie (Macrocyprea cervus (Linnaeus, 1771)), the Bull Conch (Sinustrombus taurus (Reeve, 1857)), and the Elephant Tusk (Dentalium elephantinum (Linnaeus, 1758)), as well as the entire frog family, Bursidae.

I realize that this is just the tip of the iceberg with shells named for animals. There are many, many more. You may find as you peruse shell names that there is an entire group of cones named for military ranks, from soldiers to generals and even admirals. I challenge you to go on a treasure hunt for shells named in honor of animals! Remember that the name may reflect a physical characteristic as in stripes or sometimes the reflection is in shape as in the tusk shells. See what you can find. Our club library is full of books.

Sarasota Shell Club Shell Trips

Kice Island - Sunday, December 5, 2021

Kice is part of the 10,000 islands and has become a very popular shelling destination as a rare undeveloped privately owned location. It is remarkable as a place to see live murexes and to collect spiny jewel boxes, wentletraps, and other species in excellent condition. SEE PAGE 11—INFORMATION

Carefree Learner Trip - Monday, December 6, 2021 8:00 am

Keewaydin Island - Tuesday, January 4, 2022

Keewaydin, accessible only by boat, has become Sarasota Shell Club's premier destination. We have had incredible luck finding pear whelks, paper figs, true tulips, all manner of cockles and even the elusive golden olives and junonia shells. This trip is definitely not to be missed!

Carefree Learner Trip - Friday, January 21, 2022 8:00 am

Cayo Costa State Park - Tuesday, February 1, 2022

Cayo Costa is an excellent beach-combing location accessible by boat out of Bokeelia. Baby ears, golden olives, and many other species may be found here. It is also great for sand dollars. There is the opportunity to snorkel on the bay side. The more intrepid sheller may rent a cabin or tent site on January 31 for the early morning negative tide on February 1. Calusa shell middens may be viewed both in Bokeelia and on Cayo Costa.

Carefree Learner Trip - Tuesday, February 1, 2022 7:00 am

Peanut Island - Sunday, March 20, 2022

Peanut Island is a unique location on Florida's Atlantic Coast. The island is operated as a city park by Palm Beach and is accessible by ferry. Many species found here are uncommon on the Gulf Coast, or anywhere else in Florida for that matter, including Caribbean Fighting Conchs, Partridge Tuns, and Distorsios. Wading and snorkeling increase your chances of locating rare finds. The negative tide is at 4:33 pm, so you may want to bring your tent and reserve a camping spot, allowing you to take advantage of the 5:05 am negative tide on Monday. Don't miss the nearby Flagler Museum if you have the chance.

Fossil Trip - Silent Auction at the Schmelz's

In lieu of a fossil pit exploration this trip offers a chance to acquire choice fossil specimens from the collection of paleontologist, Gary Schmelz (Naples, FL). We will meet at a predetermined place and move onto Gary's home where the silent auction will be held. After that we will have chance to move on to the new Marco Island Museum and then for a neat lunch at the Little Bar restaurant in Goodland. There is no cost to the trip (except the fuel). Since we need to know how many are going a sign-up is necessary. If you would like to attend let the Editor know at rbopp1@tam-pabay.rr.com. Contact Ron soon as only 20 spots are available!

Help Participate and Promote the Shell Club on Facebook (Joining Our Facebook Page is Fun and Informative)

By Amy Bentley

The Sarasota Shell Club would like to encourage all members and their families to please use our Facebook page and learn more about what's going on with the Shell Club as well as in the shelling/marine world. Our page has lots of information about meetings, events and club excursions, plus some other fun shell-related stuff.

I am a new member and was asked to help with our Facebook page, which I'm happy to do. I have a background in professional marketing and journalism. I'm hoping our members, especially those who live out of town or can't attend a meeting, will learn more about what the Shell Club is up to.

Once you are on Facebook, search for the Sarasota Florida Shell Club Public Group and "like" the page. Visit the page often and feel free to post articles or information you think we'd like, or share your shell finds! Using our Facebook page will help us share information, promote our annual shell show, and perhaps attract new members.

Social media is a good tool to expand the Club's reach and let others know what we do. For example, I recently posted our flier about the shell show on our Facebook page and then shared the post to several other shelling and community groups I follow that together have thousands of members, garnering hundreds of new views and more shares on Facebook.

Once you are following the page, you can invite new members to follow the page if they are friends with you on Facebook. On Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/353766125615946>.

VOLUNTEERS CORNER

You're needed! No work is too small! Volunteers are extremely valuable resources for your Sarasota Shell Club! Usually, volunteering does not involve a long-term commitment or take a huge amount of your time. Seasoned club members will teach and guide you. Verbal & detailed written instructions will be provided before each shift as needed. You will not be left without guidance and support. If you are a relatively new member, volunteering will allow you to connect with other club members who, though they come from all walks of life, all love shells, like you! Finally, volunteering at our Shell Show is a unique and most rewarding experience!

THE ARTISANS (ongoing)

The Artisan group is asking for a few volunteers who would like to sort and organize some items. There are many other chores that go along with all of the varied items we need to produce. We meet EVERY Thursday on the campus of the Bee Ridge Presbyterian church (Proctor & McIntosh) from 10a.m. to around 1p.m., we would be so happy to have your help. Please consider giving us a few hours sometime. Just show up!

58th SHELL SHOW (February 11 & 12, 2022)

OVERVIEW

There are 2 shifts each day, mornings & afternoons. Please ponder on these opportunities to help your club succeed in this much anticipated Sarasota yearly event. Sign-up sheet will be available at each monthly meeting beginning in October (we are starting early, can you tell we are excited!). It's SHELLABRATION time!

- Volunteer at Large Filled

1 volunteer per shift. This flexible person is willing to serve whenever or wherever he/she is needed during the shift. Volunteers will be contacted prior to & during their shift & informed of the area where they are needed.

- Admission / Entrance Table

2 volunteers per shift sell the admission tickets, give a little bag of shells, and maintain a log of how visitors learned about the show. Time flies at this table! This opportunity might be challenging for new members.

- Membership Table No one signed up yet _ Outgoing personalities needed! And we do have many!

2 volunteers per shift explain the activities of our club, provide brochures and assist with the completion of the membership application. Many visitors are interested and stop at this table to ask questions.

- Raffle Table 1 place left on Fri afternoon, more on Saturday

2 volunteers per shift explain how the raffle works and sell tickets. Usually quite busy.

- Artisans Table

4 volunteers per shift interact with the public showing interest in the artistic creations for sale. This includes assisting with viewing price tags, wrapping purchases, setting paid ones aside if needed. Chairman Donna Bartels handles the money.

- Guard of the Artistic Exhibit

1 volunteer per shift walk around the exhibit area or sit where they can watch for any potential problems, keeping people, in a positive and polite manner, from touching the items/exhibits. All are fragile and people are frequently tempted to TOUCH them. Visitors will ask questions about the award ribbons and interact with volunteers.

- Club Table (Duane Kauffmann's Table) FILLED

2 volunteers per shift sell & package shells that were donated to our club by private collectors. Incredible finds are possible at discounted prices for crafters and treasure hunters. First day involves sorting shells & setting up the table. Basic knowledge of shells is helpful.

- Lunch area for volunteers FILLED

1 volunteer per shift to ensure that only SSC volunteers have access to a free lunch and that the area is maintained clean. Currently, those volunteer positions are filled for 2022.

- Tablecloths

On Thursday morning, before the truck's arrival, at least 10 persons are needed to cover each table (excluding dealers') with a tablecloth and secure it with large safety pins.

- Loading & unloading the truck

The more per day, the easier! A truck driver is needed on Thursday and on Sunday (both ways)

(1) Load on Wednesday afternoon 2/09/21 at the Artisans room (Bee Ridge Presbyterian Church) corner PROCTOR & McIntosh.

(2) Unload at the Show on Thursday 2/10 after the tablecloths are set-up.

(3) Pack-up, load at the Show from 8:00 A.M. to Noon on Sunday 2/13/21 and then unload at the Artisans' room.

Historian's Report

50 Years Ago

The Club archives have no minutes for December 1970 or December 1996. Apparently what happened at the Christmas party(s) was either

- (a) not worth recording,
- (b) not recorded due to neglect or incapacity of Club secretary, or
- (c) of such ribald character as to best be lost to history.

SSC Club Meeting Minutes

November 11, 2021

I. Call to order:

Sally called this meeting to order at 7:04 P.M. asking if there were any guests present. Two guests were present.

II. Program:

President presented the program tonight, Sally Peppitoni, while on her summer activity “Fossiling in the Badlands.” While on this experience she found artifacts 24 to 40 million years old bones of both large and small animals. She personally found a few mollusks from about the same time period. Everything found on this “dig” has sent to a lab to be prepared. She brought some of the bones and even a skull of an animal for us to have a closer look at. Members seemed to be interested in these artifacts.

III. Secretary’s Report:

The October 14, 2021, club meeting minutes were published in the Beauii. “A motion to accept these minutes as printed in the October’s ’s issue of the Beauii” was made by Ron Bopp and seconded by Bev Root. This motion was approved.

IV. Treasurer’s Report:

Karen gave our Treasurer’s report along with income, expenses for October up to tonight’s meeting. We have a balance of $24, 315.67 in our checking account.

V. Committee Reports:

A. Shell Show:

1. Karen, Donna K and Lynn shared information about the show. They restated the dates for the show (February 11-12, 2022) and other dates for picking up (Feb. 10th) and loading the truck for the show. While a great deal of work is involved, it is also lots of fun.
2. Nancy Cadieux explained her clipboard signup sheets for the Shell Show’s volunteer needs. Many people have signed up already to work both the prep days, show set up, the show itself, and take down on Sunday.
3. Carol Mae explained how lunches would be handed during the show. Donuts and coffee will be available Thursday throughout Saturday. The kitchen and bathrooms will be professionally cleaned Wednesday. Carol also shared what items needed to be donated to help keep costs down. Small cans of soda, water and chips will be needed. Sign up for these items will begin in January.

B. Programs:

Duane shared the programs for the next few months. No formal program in December as we will have our Holiday party. Doug Thompson has donated many mollusks he found diving off Panama City. These will be raffled off at the Holiday Party. January’s program will be Shelling in Fiji with Karen. February will not have a formal club meeting due to the show.

C. Librarian:

Duane is available to open the library to anyone interested. He almost has the books back in order after they fell.

D. Historian:

Report is in the Beauii.

E. Membership:

Donna K. reported we have 130 members who have paid dues this year. Pick up your membership cards on the back table.

F. Field Trips:

Karen reminded people to send in their checks for field trips; especially the trips to Kice Island.

G. Web Page: Bruce was absent so nothing new was added.

H. Newsletter:

Ron requested cartoons, or articles to be put in the newsletter.

I. Education:

Jo Ann Walsh gave report on Conus spurius (Alphabet Cone) given to her last month. Her report was very concise and thorough. Lynn offered a Chicoreus florifer specimen shell to a member who would research this murex shell at the January club meeting. Presentations should be about 3-5 minutes. The shell is theirs to keep, new member Judy Van Patten, offered to research this shell.

J. Sunshine.

Membership was asked if they knew anyone was ill and no one's name was mentioned.

K. Artisans: Donna Cassin said the Artisans are busy making items for the show and sold at Coastal Flow.

VI. Old Business:

No further old business was brought up.

VII. New Business:

A. Holiday Party: Sally asked for a volunteer to gather information on a location for a Holiday Party in December. Discussion followed and the suggestion of having this get together here at the church was brought up. Members in attendance agreed to this idea. Our Holiday Party will be here at the church at 6 PM on Thursday, December 9th. Sally will make up sign-up sheets for what food members need to bring for next meeting. We also need to check with the Church to use the kitchen.

B. A Nominating Committee will need to be selected from members. Positions known that need to be filled are a President, Treasurer, Membership, and 2 Members at Large for the Board. The nominating Committee should have three members. Gordon F, Sally P., and Karen H. offered to be on the nominating Committee to select Board Members for the 2022-2023 year. Since Sally and Karen will no longer be elected officers, they are allowed by our Bylaws to be on this committee since they are not running for office, this year.

VIII. Door Prizes:

Door prizes for tonight's meeting were chosen.

IX. Adjournment:

This meeting was adjourned at 8:40 PM by President Sally.

Respectfully submitted,

Lynn Gaulin

Recording Secretary
